Hurricane Carrie Found In Atlantic

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 6 (AP)—Hurricane Carrie, the season's third, was spotted tonight in the Atlantic Ocean more than 2,700 miles east-southeast of Miami and shipping in its westward path was warned in a U. S. Weather Bureau advisory to exercise caution.

"This is a dangerous hurricane," an advisory issued at 6 p. m. EST said.

"Highest winds are estimated at 115 miles an hour in a small area near the center with hurricane force winds extending out for 75 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south," forecaster Walter Davis said in the advisory, timed 6:30 p. m. Atlantic Standard Time.

"The hurricane is expected to increase slightly in intensity during the next 24 hours."

Remote Area

The remote Atlantic area where Carrie was detected has in the past spawned such storms as the Galveston, Tex., hurricane of 1900, the Miami hurricane of 1926 and the New England hurricane of 1938.

The storm center's position, as listed in the first advisory, was 15.5 degrees south latitude, 39.5 degrees west longitude. That would be about 1,500 miles east of the Lesser Antilles, island outposts of the Western Hemisphere.

"Carrie is so far out at sea now that it's dangerous only to shipping," said forecaster William Sugg of the Miami Weather Bureau at 6:20 p. m. EST.

Sugg said the first position report placed Carrie almost midway between the Lesser Antilles and the west coast of Africa.

He said it was possible that hurricane hunter planes might attempt to fly into Carrie's eye Sunday, if the storm's westward speed rate holds up.

Final Argument Postponed After Juror Stricken

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6 (UP)—Final arguments in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial were cut short today within two hours after getting underway in a smog-filled courtroom because of the illness of a woman juror.

The smoky haze that clung to the city in the worst smog attack of the year even drifted into the courtroom and caused the eyes of jurors and spectators to water until air conditioning equipment finally cleared the bluish mist.

Deputy District Attorney William L. Ritzl had just gotten well into his argument when juror Mrs. Marilyn Faber, became ill and had to be carried out of the courtroom to receive medical attention from county jail physician, Dr. Marcus Crahan.

Mrs. Marjorie Meade, one of the defendants as half of the husband-wife team that gathered material for Confidential, also complained that the smog made her ill.

Ritzl in opening his final argument sought to show that Confidential and its sister publication, Whisper magazine, were run by publisher Robert Harrison and his relatives as a family enterprise.

Mrs. Meade is the niece of the publisher.

The prosecutor produced a "family tree" of relatives who ran the publications and their agencies including Hollywood Research Inc., operated by Fred and Marjorie Meade. He showed that other relatives in the enterprise were Michael and Edith Tobias and Helen and Daniel Studen.

West Monroe Gets Federal Planning Aid

West Monroe is among 13 Louisiana municipalities named yesterday to receive a federal urban planning grant, which, when matched with local funds, will pave the way for comprehensive plans for the growth and development of the city.

In May of this year, West Monroe applied for state and federal aid. Mayor J. Alan Norris said at that time that city planning would have to have assistance in order to carry out the program.

West Monroe will receive a few thousand dollars of the $67,000 grant, and will match the amount, with half of the matching sum coming from the city, and half from the state.

City planning work came into focus when plans for the new super federal highway route were being discussed. The highway is to pass through the Twin Cities, and the need for city planning became evident at that time. Highway Director R. B. Richardson said in June that plans for the highway were stalled until officials, through city planning, attempted to fit the interstate link into the other all program.

Mixed Reaction

C. E. Ponder of the West Monroe City Council said last night that he was "very pleased" that the federal aid had come through, and explained that state aid for the program would now be automatic. "This is certainly good news for West Monroe," Ponder said.

Roy W. Cash, also a West Monroe council member, said that he was "100 per cent opposed to the whole program." Mayor Norris and other council members could not be contacted for comment.

Activities to be undertaken will include surveys, studies and technical services of various kinds; preparation of maps; major street plans and population studies, and surveys of traffic, parking, transportation and school problems.

Recreation and zoning will also be included in the development plan, which is expected to be finished within the next two years.

The grant was approved under the Urban Planning Assistance Program, authorized by the house.

Tennessee's Segregation Laws Voided 'Antagonistic' To Principles Of Court Ruling

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 6 (AP)—Tennessee's new school preference law was struck down today by a federal judge who said it was "antagonistic to principles declared by the Supreme Court."

The act, ruled U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller, "is unconstitutional on its face."

This cleared the way for the city schools, acting under Miller's orders, to begin desegregation at the first grade level when classes start Monday. Thirteen Negro six-year-olds registered last week at five previously all-white schools.

The preference law would authorize local school boards to maintain separate schools for pupils whose parents voluntarily elect to send their children to school with members of their own race.

Clement's First

The measure, which swept through the 1957 General Assembly with little opposition, was the first of Gov. Frank Clement's five-part school segregation legislation to be tested in court.

In a statement, Clement said, "Skilled lawyers drafted the school preference law with the intention that it should be constitutional, not violative in any way of the U. S. Supreme Court's decisions in the school cases."

"It was passed in good faith by the Tennessee General Assembly. I have not yet had an opportunity to study Judge Miller's opinion, and therefore I will reserve further comment at this time."

Miller's decision came on a request by the Nashville School Board for a declaratory judgment on the law.

No Appeal Seen

It appeared unlikely the ruling would be appealed by the board. In a half-hour long review of the argument, before a courtroom filled with both whites and Negroes, Miller said that to assume the law granted "voluntary choice for all races," would be to oversimplify the act.

He said that after parents had selected which schools they wanted their children to attend, separate schools would be established and freedom of choice lost. Thus, Miller said, that is a "compulsory act."

Under Nashville's court-approved desegregation plan, first grade classes will be mixed at school opening next week and the school board will submit by Dec. 31 plans to desegregate the other grades.

Explosion In U.S. Red Party
Reported Near

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (UP)—The lid is about to blow off in the Communist Party of the United States. Party leaders are wrangling about events in Hungary and anti-Semitism as practiced from the Kremlin.

The party bosses are sitting on a letter from Joe Clark, a top drawer employee of the Communist Daily Worker. Clark's letter announces his resignation from the Communist party and denounces some of his former comrades, including party boss William Z. Foster.

John Gates, a member of the party's high command sat in New York with Foster and other party leaders. They discussed Clark's letter and what to do with it.

The United Press was informed that Gates pressed for publication of Clark's resignation, although Clark's criticism of Foster and some other party leaders would do a lot of damage to the Communist cause in the United States.

Ripper Caught By Mob, Cops At Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—A group of rock-throwing men, led by an off-duty policeman, tonight ran down and captured a man authorities identified as Chicago's mystery knifer.

The capture came a few minutes after the stabber had claimed his seventh and eighth victims—a young girl and a 24-year-old man.

Police identified the stabber as Joseph Caraher, 39, a watchman. They said he apparently is laboring under a persecutory complex and continued to mumble to officers: "Why are they picking on me?"

GIRARD TRIAL

Claim GIs Shot Japs 'For Fun'

MAEJASHI, Japan, Sept. 6 (AP)—William S. Girard was described in court today as one of numerous U. S. soldiers who violated orders by shooting at Japanese scrap collectors for the fun of it.

The accusation was made in statements by several Japanese shell pickers who collected used cartridge cases from military firing ranges and sell them for scrap.

The 22-year-old soldier from Ottawa, Ill., sat rigidly through this second session of his trial in a Japanese court on a manslaughter charge.

He was impassive as he heard the Japanese prosecutors read 34 statements gathered to support charges that he lured and fatally shot a woman shell picker Jan. 30.

Officer Testifies

Another deposition in the case came from his immediate superior at the time of the shooting.

Lt. Billy Mohon of Conyn, Tex., replied "definitely not" when asked if he had ordered Girard to chase away the Japanese with rifle fire. Girard was guarding a machine gun during a practice exercise.

Girard contends he was merely carrying out his guard duties and the shooting of 46-year old Mrs. Naka Sakai was an accident. She was shot with a cartridge shell from the grenade launcher on Girard's rifle.

U.S. Judge To Rule At 10 O'Clock

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 6 (UP)—The FBI was ordered late today to place at the disposal of Gov. Orval E. Faubus agents to gather data on the Little Rock school integration crisis, now moving rapidly toward a showdown in federal court.

U. S. District Attorney Orso Cobb said he has requested the FBI to make agents available to the governor "at his convenience."

As the school case headed for the court, all was peaceful on the school front. But the mayor of Little Rock, who has opposed Faubus' stand, angrily disclosed that a Ku Klux Klan-type cross was burned on his property.

Agencies Prepared

Federal agencies were prepared to work around the clock if necessary to gather data for a scheduled 10 a. m. (EST) federal court session Saturday.

Judge Ronald N. Davies, who came here only recently from Fargo, N.D., where there is no integration problem, is due to rule then whether to insist on immediate compliance with court orders to integrate a school here or whether to delay the step indefinitely at request of the Little Rock school board.

Faubus continued a firm stand of refusing to permit the integration, contending it would lead to rioting. He wired President Eisenhower, however, that he will uphold the constitutions of Arkansas and the United States. He said he would make available information to the government as to why he took the action he did.

Court Action Local

The prosecutor noted that Saturday's court act on will not directly involve the government since it will be merely on a request by the local school board to delay the integration.

The Negro pupils who were to have enrolled here appeared in court late Friday to sign affidavits on their cases so they (Continued On Page Five-A)

Lightning Kills Two Young Girls In Texas Town

SWEETWATER, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP)—Lightning killed two girls and injured a dozen other pupils on their junior high school grounds late today.

The bolt hit as they huddled under a tree for protection from a violent electrical storm.

Hospital attendants said Robbie Mitchell, 15, apparently was killed instantly.

Firemen labored unsuccessfully for an hour and one-half to revive Glenda Sue Condray, 14.

It took the firemen 70 minutes to revive a third girl, Ruby Walker. She was taken to a hospital along with 11 other girls and boys. None was believed in serious condition.

The dead girls were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell, who live in the Palava community near here, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Condray of Sweetwater.

FOREIGN AID STUDY

Passman Leaves On Round The World Inspection Trip

On-the-spot studies of the United States foreign aid program in 15 nations will be made by Louisiana Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman during an around-the-world inspection trip which began yesterday.

The tour will end Oct. 14, according to an announcement from Passman's Monroe office.

Accompanied by two men from the staff of the appropriations committee of the House of Representatives, the congressman's itinerary will include official foreign aid consultations and project visits in Denmark, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Lebanon, Pakistan, India, Burma, Siam, China (Hong Kong) and Japan.

The major portion of the time will be spent in the Middle and Far East.

Usually Unavailable

Before leaving yesterday from New York, Passman said that the trip will enable him to "gather first-hand facts on the foreign aid program." He added that the facts he intends to gather are of such a nature that they are usually unavailable from the "bureaucrats involved in the work."

Rainy, Cooler Seen For Area

A touch of cooler and rainy weather is the forecast by the weatherman, an indication of the coming of fall. The Twin Cities will be covered by cloudy skies today, and scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected. Sunday will be cooler than yesterday's high of 90; low was 65.

Arkansas also has a cloudy, and rainy outlook for today, with the cooler weather expected to reach there by tonight; the highest temperature predicted for today will be in the 80's.

German Pastor Has Praise For U.S. Religious Views

"Over here it's different. We have no ushers and nobody looks after you. You take a seat and go. Nobody takes any notice of you."

"Some people like that system. They say people want to go to church and not be bothered. This is the argument usually made by the intellectuals, but I think they are wrong. People like to be fussed over."

Von Hammerstein says American and German churches differ because of their backgrounds. In Germany, the Evangelical church is the dominant church and gets most of its money from the gov-

AMA Advises On Treating Flu

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—If you catch Asian flu, says an American Medical Assn. Council, don't take anti-biotics or sulfa drugs and don't go to a hospital.

A report by the AMA Council on Drugs said the best treatment to guard against complications is bedrest at home, sufficient fluids, and agents to reduce fever.

The council said the sulfa drugs and antibiotics do not affect the flu virus. Their use may lead to the development of bacteria that becomes resistant to their action and may make the patient sensitive to the drugs.

Tennessee's Segregation Laws Voided

Claim GIs Shot Japs 'For Fun'

MAEBASHI, Japan, Sept. 6 (AP)—William S. Girard was described in court today as one of numerous U. S. soldiers who violated orders by shooting at Japanese scrap collectors for the fun of it.

The accusation was made in statements by several Japanese shell pickers who collect used cartridge cases from military firing ranges and sell them for scrap.

The 22-year-old soldier from Otawa, Ill., sat rigidly through this second session of his trial in a Japanese court on a manslaughter charge.

He was impassive as he heard the Japanese prosecutors read 34 statements gathered to support charges that he lured and fatally shot a woman shell picker Jan. 30.

Officer Testifies
Another deposition in the case came from his immediate superior at the time of the shooting.

Lt. Billy Mohon of Comyn, Tex., replied "definitely not" when asked if he had ordered Girard to chase away the Japanese with rifle fire. Girard was guarding a machine gun during a practice exercise.

Girard contends he was merely carrying out his guard duties and the shooting of 46-year-old Mrs. Naka Sakai was an accident. She was shot with a cartridge shell from the grenade launcher on Girard's rifle.

Several shell pickers' statements introduced by the prosecution were read.

RELIGION IN THE NEWS
German Pastor Has Praise For U.S. Religious Views

BERLIN (AP)—A German pastor who spent three years preaching in the United States has returned home with praise for the American approach to religion.

"American churches are friendlier than ours," says the Rev. Franz von Hammerstein, a 35-year-old West Berlin Evangelical (Lutheran) pastor. "When you go to church in America, you are treated like a member of the family. You are also invited to come back."

"Over here it's different. We have no ushers and nobody looks after you. You take a seat and after the sermon you get up and go. Nobody takes any notice of you."

"Some people like that system. They say people want to go to church and not be bothered. This is the argument usually made by the intellectuals, but I think they are wrong. People like to be fussed over."

Von Hammerstein says American and German churches differ because of their backgrounds. In Germany, the Evangelical church is the dominant church and gets most of its money from the government.

He believes a new approach is necessary and he's plugging American-style ideas designed to "help youth realize we are not completely old-fashioned."

U.S. Judge To Rule At 10 O'Clock

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 6 (UP)—The FBI was ordered late today to place at the disposal of Gov. Orval E. Faubus agents to gather data on the Little Rock school integration crisis, now moving rapidly toward a showdown in federal court.

U. S. District Attorney Osro Cobb said he has requested the FBI to make agents available to the governor "at his convenience."

As the school case headed for the court, all was peaceful on the school front. But the mayor of Little Rock, who has opposed Faubus' stand, angrily disclosed that a Ku Klux Klan-type cross was burned on his property.

Agencies Prepared
Federal agencies were prepared to work around the clock if necessary to gather data for a scheduled 10 a.m. (CST) federal court session Saturday.

Judge Ronald N. Davies, who came here only recently from Fargo, N.D., where there is no integration problem, is due to rule then whether to insist on immediate compliance with court orders to integrate a school here or whether to delay the step indefinitely at request of the Little Rock school board.

Faubus continued a firm stand of refusing to permit the integration, contending it would lead to rioting. He wired President Eisenhower, however, that he will uphold the constitutions of Arkansas and the United States. He said he would make available information to the government as to why he took the action he did.

Court Action Local
The prosecutor noted that Saturday's court action will not directly involve the government since it will be merely on a request by the local school board to delay the integration.

The Negro pupils who were to have enrolled here appeared in court late Friday to sign affidavits about their cases so they could be heard.

Lightning Kills Two Young Girls In Texas Town

SWEETWATER, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP)—Lightning killed two girls and injured a dozen other pupils on their junior high school grounds late today.

The bolt hit as they huddled under a tree for protection from a violent electrical storm.

Hospital attendants said Robbie Mitchell, 15, apparently was killed instantly.

Firemen labored unsuccessfully for an hour and one-half to revive Glenda Sue Condray, 14.

It took the firemen 70 minutes to revive a third girl, Ruby Walker. She was taken to a hospital along with 11 other girls and boys. None was believed in serious condition.

The dead girls were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell, who live in the Palava community near here, and Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Condray of Sweetwater.

Benson Asks End To Rigid Prices
CINCINNATI, Sept. 6 (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today rigid price supports for such basic farm commodities as wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts should be abolished.

Once this is done, he said, American farmers can rid themselves of both surplus and acreage allotments.

But the agriculture secretary stressed he does not want to scrap government farm support programs altogether.

"My concern," he said, "is to try to insure that the kind of help that is given farmers actually helps and does not add to their problems."

Loss Of Tax Exemptions Hits Airplane Operators

Expiration of a legislative act which exempted aircraft, airports, hangars, facilities and aerial supplies from state, parish and city taxes to a 10-year period has resulted in a setback to the private airplane operating industry in Monroe.

Other parts of the state are also feeling the results. Many operators have moved their headquarters from Seman Field to neighboring states, and others are expected to follow suit.

Assess a valuation of locally owned and operated aircraft, hangars and other facilities in Ouachita Parish is better than $600,000, the records of the parish tax assessor show. State, parish and city taxes, all ordered collected by the state, total some $75,000 where in the neighborhood of $75,000.

The Louisiana legislature of 1946 passed the 10-year aircraft tax exemption bill, and it expires this year. No provision was made for an extension, so the parish tax assessor's office was required by law to list for taxation all airplanes and air facilities. Neither the city nor the parish has any control over whether or not this type property is to be assessed for taxation, officials explained.

Since Seman Field from which many of the aircraft operate is inside the city limits of Monroe, the annual city tax must be levied and added to state tax.

One Seman Field operator already has transferred about 10 of its planes to another "tax-free" state, leaving only one aircraft here. Another larger operator said he already had moved some 10 planes and was planning to move still more.

A number of the crop districts, which have been operating out of Monroe have indicated their intentions of leaving. Some already have left.

All in all, more than 75 aircraft of all types — crop dusters, pipeline and power line patroling, and charter — have been using Monroe as headquarters for a number of years.

One of the major operators said that the tax made it economically impractical to continue business in Louisiana in the case of the majority of those in the business. It was pointed out that although tens of thousands of dollars could be collected in taxes on aircraft and facilities the state stands to lose considerable revenue in the form of gasoline tax, and to lose also through the removal of the planes from the state.

During the three-day confab, the group will tour the Twin Cities with interest centered upon the operating and potential industrial life of the community.

The meet will convene at the Penn Hotel, Monday through Wednesday, with Whitney Algers, southwest district sales manager, as host. Algers recently moved his headquarters to Monroe.

About 50 company representatives are expected for the occasion. Meetings of the group will be held in the penthouse of the hotel, the Green Room is reserved for luncheons and dinners, and special suites have been set aside for conferences. Also, rooms and suites are reserved for the delegates.

Unofficial reports say that Yale and Towne is considering establishment of a factory "somewhere in Louisiana."

Negro Freed At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP) — Police Chief Shirley Arrighi said today a Negro man arrested here as a California inmate has been freed on orders of the sheriff of San Francisco County.

Arrighi said Ernest J. Thomas, 27, was taken into custody yesterday after police here received a telegram from San Francisco authorities requesting Thomas be arrested on a California rape charge.

Later, the police chief said, the San Francisco County sheriff notified him to release the man, that the courts there would not authorize bringing Thomas back because of a legal technicality.

Clinic On Retail Selling Scheduled

A retail selling and supervision clinic will operate in Monroe for two weeks, beginning Monday, giving sales personnel an opportunity to review good selling techniques.

This retail training program was discussed at a meeting of the merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and the plans were formulated.

Supervised by the State Department of Education's distributive education section, the program will place Mrs. Elizabeth H. Pugh in Monroe for a two-week period. During that time she will handle the courses of study for sales employees.

She will deal with the basic principles of good selling, including duties of sales personnel, selling vocabulary and steps in a sale. The course is expected to afford the sales clerk an opportunity to analyze himself and improve public relations, as well as to increase sales.

Problems of management and supervision will also be discussed during the course.

Participants will attend one hour daily for 10 days. No classes will be held on Saturdays.

Additional opening hours for Monroe stores were also discussed at the meeting, and it was announced that stores will remain open two nights a week during the first half of December.

The additional night in December will be Wednesday night, so that customers may have more time to do Christmas shopping. The week just before Christmas, stores will be open every night. On Christmas Eve, the firms will close at the regular time.

Christmas decorating assignments were explained at the meet, and plans were shown by Chairman Herbert Fink. Thousands of symmetrical patterns and a parade float in conjunction with the initial lighting program. Prizes will be offered to the best bands participating.

Ex-W. Monroyan Named To Dairy Specialist Post

An ex-West Monroyan, Bobby L. Kilpatrick, former assistant county agent in Franklin parish, has been named assistant dairy specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

He has been assigned to the dairy department and will visit all parts of the state in carrying out his assignment. H. C. Sanders, extension director, said yesterday when he made the announcement.

Kilpatrick was educated in Ouachita parish schools, Northeast Junior College, Louisiana State University and received his Master's degree from LSU.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kilpatrick of Jonesboro Road, West Monroe. He married the former Betty Sue Rockett of Rayville two weeks ago and at present the couple are in Baton Rouge setting up housekeeping.

Pine Seedling Supply Sold Out In State

BATON ROUGE, (Special) — Pine seedlings are "all sold out" for this year at Louisiana Forestry Commission nurseries, State Forester James E. Mixon announced today. He said any seedling applications received after today will be put in a special file and can be filled only if the actual seedling production exceeds the last inventory estimate.

Mixon said the three state nurseries expect to produce 90 million seedlings this year. Seedling orders reached that total today, he said.

"We will continue to accept orders," the state forester pointed out, "and place them in an abeyance file. These orders will be filled if more seedlings become available to us as a result of an overrun of our inventory, cancellation of present orders or other unforeseen sources."

Because future orders will be on an abeyance basis, he said payment does not have to accompany the applications.

All county agents and Soil Conservation Service district supervisors were notified of details of the situation by letter, he said, so small forest landowners should contact local agents for further information.

Twins Cause Confusion In Air Force

S-Sgt. Earl Temple and S-Sgt. Murl Temple, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Temple of Route One, Rayville, are causing the Air Force a lot of confusion.

The twins are stationed at Houma Air Force Base.

S-Sgt. David J. Finlayson, who had just transferred from frigid Alaska to torrid Louisiana, thought the heat was affecting him when he first arrived and hadn't been "briefed" so to speak, about the situation.

Meets Earl

In Finlayson's words, "I reported to the 65th ACW Squadron without a family which meant I would live in bachelor officer quarters. I began unloading my luggage, during which time I met S-Sgt. Earl F. Temple and S-Sgt. Murl Temple."

"Monday I visited the orderly room and there was Temple, and this time I noted that he wore a huge wedding band and talked about his wife."

"Later that day I visited another section and again Temple appeared. This time he was without wedding band and discussed various representatives of the opposite sex."

"Still later I visited a third section and saw Temple—with wedding band."

Mixed Up

"At this point I began questioning my sanity. . . . Fortunately I was able to hold on for a few more days, at which time I learned there are two Temples—Earl and Murl—identical twins. Murl was married to the former Marie King, of Edwardsville, Ill., and Earl was still studying the prospectus."

Both are graduates of Rayville High School and were members of the 2005 Air Base Group at Lake Charles in 1953. Earl went to Korea in '54 and Murl to Greenland a year later.

They were re-united at Houma base last year.

Violent Storm Sweeps Texas; Dallas Struck

By UNITED PRESS

Thunderstorms, with gusts of wind up to 40 miles per hour, struck the Dallas area Friday.

The thunderstorms, which started in West Texas Thursday, had killed one man and injured three other persons.

M. C. Harrison, chief meteorologist at Love Field in Dallas, reported only 10 of an inch of rain fell there. But the Hundley Boat Works at Lake Dallas, north of the city, said rain came down "in sheets" and almost an inch fell.

Laborer Blown off Roof

A. C. Brooks, a 52-year-old Negro laborer, was blown off the roof of a building under construction near Love Field and fell 13 feet to the ground.

Roofing paper and a five-gallon bucket of hot roofing tar fell on top of him and he suffered third degree burns on his hands, feet and arms. He also had a possible broken wrist.

Jack Cardwell, 71, started to cross an Oak Cliff street during the height of a squall but strong winds knocked him down in the middle of the street. He crawled to the other curb but was not in the sophomore class.

The powerful wind tore up a big display sign in Oak Cliff and overturned a large tree, blew down an overhanging stop light, and blowing and knocked out a plate glass window.

"The wind just dropped down out of the sky," Cardwell said. Another man, Charles Giles, said the Oak Cliff wind "looked like a small tornado."

"I held on to my truck to keep from being blown down," he said. "I ran into a tin shed and then into a parking lot beside the car."

Rain was also reported at Amarillo, Fort Worth, Dallas and Denton, Texas, reported 1 inch of rain.

Negro Freed At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP) — Police Chief Shirley Arrighi said today a Negro mailman arrested here as a California fugitive has been freed on orders of the sheriff of San Francisco County.

Arrighi said Ernest J. Thomas, 27, was taken into custody yesterday after police here received a telegram from San Francisco authorities requesting Thomas be arrested on a California rape charge.

Later, the police chief said, the San Francisco County sheriff notified him to release the man, that the courts there would not authorize bringing Thomas back because of a legal technicality.

Ex-W. Monroyan Named To Dairy Specialist Post

An ex-West Monroyan, Bobby L. Kilpatrick, former assistant county agent in Franklin parish, has been named assistant dairy specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

He has been assigned to the dairy department and will visit all parts of the state in carrying out his assignment. H. C. Sanders, extension director, said yesterday when he made the announcement.

Kilpatrick was educated in Ouachita parish schools, Northeast Junior College, Louisiana State University and received his Master's degree from LSU.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kilpatrick of Jonesboro Road, West Monroe. He married the former Betty Sue Rockett of Rayville two weeks ago and at present the couple are in Baton Rouge setting up housekeeping.

Pine Seedling Supply Sold Out In State

BATON ROUGE, (Special) — Pine seedlings are "all sold out" for this year at Louisiana Forestry Commission nurseries, State Forester James E. Nixon announced today. He said any seedling applications received after today will be put in a special file and can be filled only if the actual seedling production exceeds the last inventory estimate.

Nixon said the three state nurseries expect to produce 90 million seedlings this year. Seedling orders reached that total today, he said.

"We will continue to accept orders," the state forester pointed out, "and place them in an abeyance file. These orders will be filled if more seedlings become available to us as a result of an overrun of our inventory, cancellation of present orders or other unforeseen sources."

Because future orders will be on an abeyance basis, he said payment does not have to accompany the applications.

All county agents and Soil Conservation Service district supervisors were notified of details of the situation by letter, he said, so small forest landowners should contact local agents for further information.

Twins Cause Confusion In Air Force

S-Sgt. Earl Temple and S-Sgt. Muri Temple, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Temple of Route One, Rayville, are causing the Air Force a lot of confusion.

The twins are stationed at Houma Air Force Base.

S-Sgt. David J. Finlayson, who had just transferred from frigid Alaska to torrid Louisiana, thought the heat was affecting him when he first arrived and hadn't been "briefed" so to speak, on the situation.

Meets Earl

In Finlayson's words, "I reported to the 657th ACW Squadron without a family which meant I would live in bachelor officer quarters. I began unloading my luggage, during which time I met S-Sgt. Earl F. Temple and others."

"Monday I visited the orderly room and there was Temple, and this time I noted that he wore a huge wedding band and talked about his wife."

"Later that day I visited another section and again Temple appeared. This time he was with out wedding band and discussed various representatives at the opposite sex."

"Still later I visited a third section and saw Temple—with wedding band."

Mixed Up

"At this point I began questioning my sanity. . . . Fortunately I was able to hold on for a few more days, at which time I learned there are two Temples—Earl and Muri—identical twins. Muri was married to the former Marie King, of Edwardsville, Ill., and Earl was still studying the prospectus."

Both are graduates of Rayville High School and were members of the 8065 Air Base Group at Lake Charles in 1953. Earl went to Korea in '54 and Muri to Greenland a year later.

They were re-joined at Houma base last year.

Violent Storm Sweeps Texas; Dallas Struck

By UNITED PRESS

Thunderstorms, with gusts of wind up to 40 miles per hour, struck the Dallas area Friday.

The thunderstorms, which started in West Texas Thursday, had killed one man and injured three other persons.

M. C. Harrison, chief meteorologist at Love Field in Dallas, reported only 10 of an inch of rain fell there. But the Hundley Boat Works at Lake Dallas, north of the city, said rain came down "in sheets" and almost an inch fell.

Laborer Blown off Roof

A. C. Brooks, a 52-year-old Negro laborer, was blown off the roof of a building under construction near Love Field and fell 18 feet to the ground.

Roofing paper and a five-gallon bucket of hot roofing tar fell on top of him and he suffered third degree burns on his hands, feet and arms. He also had a possible broken wrist.

Jack Cardwell, 71, started to cross an Oak Cliff street during the height of a squall but strong wind knocked him down in the middle of the street. He crawled to the other curb but was not injured.

Wind Tears Sign

The powerful wind tore up a big display sign in Oak Cliff and uprooted a large tree, blew down an overhanging stop light, an awning and knocked out a plate glass window.

"The wind just dropped down out of the sky," Cardwell said. Another man, Charles Giles, said the Oak Cliff wind "looked like a small tornado."

"I held on to my truck to keep from being blown down," he said. "I ran into a tin shed and then into a parking lot beside the car."

Rain was also reported at Amon Carter Field, between Fort Worth and Dallas, and Gunter, Tex., reported 1 inch of rain.

Faubus Gets Pat On Back From Alabama Groups

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 6 —Two Birmingham groups today congratulated Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus for his resistance to a federal school integration order.

Telegrams commending Faubus were announced by the Eastern Section Citizens Council and by a group which called itself the "Birmingham for Gov. Faubus Club."

"Congratulations to the champion crusader for states rights," the message from the club said in part. "It is our hope and the hope of all true southerners that our governors will accept your views and ideals."

"Your brave and courageous stand has the full support of all patriotic and true Americans," said the council telegram in part. "If we of Alabama can help, please let us know. Our prayers are with you."

Three Negroes Ask Admission At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 6 —The Birmingham Board of Education today received applications of Negroes for admission to three white schools, and at the same time adopted new rules based on a law intended to preserve racial segregation.

The applications were turned over to Dr. Fraser Banks, city superintendent of education, for study.

The board adopted new rules of procedure based on the school placement law, designed as a barrier to racial integration of Alabama classrooms although race is not mentioned.

Under the law Banks may consider school reports, test results, personal interviews and other factors in deciding on assignment or reassignment of pupils.

Three Drop Out

Originally nine Negro families asked admission of their children to Phillip and Woodlawn high schools and Graymont elementary.

Three families later withdrew their petitions. None of the parents was present at the board meeting.

Banks said he would want to get "other information" before acting on the petitions. He said he would report later to the board. Any decision he makes may be appealed to the board.

One of the petitioning parents was the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, president of the pro-integration Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights. He said the parents will meet shortly to determine whether they will attempt to enroll their children next week.

The only spectators at the meeting were reporters, one of them a Negro representing a local Negro newspaper, and two unidentified white men. One of these men wore a button picturing two Negroes hanging from ropes.

Ku Klux Klansmen have been seen wearing these buttons in the past.

Miss. Solons Seek Boost For Road Spending

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 6 —A legislative subcommittee studying the state aid road program today recommended a boost from five to 20 million dollars a year for the program.

The subcommittee, a part of the legislative recess Highway Planning Committee, said the present five million-dollar limit on the state aid road program is inadequate.

Other recommendations by the subcommittee included:

1. That counties be allowed to issue short term notes for five years to accelerate the state aid road program.

2. That more engineers be provided for the program.

3. A high standard for roads so they will be constructed on a permanent basis.

4. All roads be hard surfaced.

The subcommittee also reported:

1. The Consolidation of schools under the state's education equalization program causes "the need for rural roads to be of paramount importance."

2. "Many rural families are leaving the farms because of an inadequate rural road system."

3. Good hard-surfaced rural roads to help residents to work in industries.

Williams added that the Chamber officials believe that in this way, new residents will more quickly come to know and like their new home. He explained that this is not a duplication of the greeting service already established by a group of Monroe merchants. "This particular plan is new to Monroe," Williams said.

Newcomers Registration Setup Ready

A special registration booth for newcomers to Monroe is now set up in the Monroe Utilities Commission offices, in a joint effort by the commission and the Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation of the commission.

Jim Williams, secretary - manager of the Chamber of Commerce, explained that since most newcomers to Monroe are going to the utilities offices the first thing after arriving, it was decided this was an ideal way of working the plan.

Purpose Of Booth
Fred Fudickar, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the purpose of the booth is to "afford newcomers an opportunity to receive complimentary city maps, facts, figures and church directories as soon as possible after moving to Monroe."

Williams added that the Chamber officials believe that in this way, new residents will more quickly come to know and like their new home. He explained that this is not a duplication of the greeting service already established by a group of Monroe merchants. "This particular plan is new to Monroe," Williams said.

Mike Tarver of the commission pledged full support of all commission personnel in making this new service an asset to the newcomers and to Monroe.

You—20,000 Errors?

Do you, Mr. Motorist, make 20,000 errors a year while driving an automobile? If you don't make 20,000 errors a year, maybe you make only 5,000, but that is still a lot of errors.

"An average of 5,000 to 20,000 driver errors are made by the average motorist every year."

This statement was made by Dr. Leon Brody, director of the New York University center of safety education, which helped to develop a driver educational program.

There is little wonder that the nation awakens with a shock every time traffic toll figures for a three-day holiday period are announced and little wonder that the number of deaths and injuries from auto accidents makes America's war casualties look small in comparison.

If there are 60,000,000 automobile drivers in this country and each of them makes an average of 10,000 driving errors a year the total number of such errors would be 600,000,000,000 (six hundred billion).

The wonder is that anyone is ever able to go out on the highway and then return home safely—when the average driver makes more than 27 errors a day, either in judgment or in wilful violations.

It has been pointed out that there are three principal ways in which traffic fatalities and injuries could be materially reduced. One of these is stricter enforcement of laws, another is greater road safety and the third is driver education.

If all of these methods had been developed to the greatest possible extent the tragedies which occurred in the nation last weekend might have been reduced to a mere fraction of the usual holiday toll.

Safer highways are being constructed as rapidly as finances will permit. During holiday periods many states double the usual number of enforcement officers on the highways but the number of accidents has not been lessened, although the National Safety Council must be given credit for preventing these tragedies from rising to still greater heights.

As much as law enforcement officers may tighten down on violators, there is no way in which they can reduce to a sufficient degree the 5,000 to 20,000 driving errors made each year by the average motorist. Officers can't keep people from making mistakes and it is an extremely hard task for the officers to prevent drivers from committing traffic violations—unless the drivers themselves are safety-conscious. In this connection, Saul H. Rose, president of the American Driver Training Association, Inc., says:

"Classroom work is necessary, we believe, to produce safe, skillful drivers. As an illustration, look at the success high school driver training programs, which use the classroom extensively, have had in turning out competent young motorists."

Brody and Rose believe that learning to use your eyes correctly when driving and sportsmanship and respect for the rights of others are driving habits learned more easily at a desk than on the highway.

Since driving licenses do not automatically make people safer drivers and since licenses are issued primarily to enforce greater safety and greater compliance with the law, it would seem reasonable to require every motorist to take some classroom study in driving.

If every driver could be instilled with safety-consciousness and fair-play-consciousness it might be possible to reduce the average number of traffic errors greatly from the present level of 5,000 to 20,000 per person yearly.

If driving errors could be cut to 10 per cent of their present level, automobile accidents and automobile tragedies might be reduced by 90 per cent. It is well worth a try.

Roving U.S. Jury

Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana hit the nail on the head when he characterized the federal commission named to investigate alleged civil rights violations as follows:

"It involves the creation of a super-grand jury with nationwide jurisdiction, authorized and empowered to rove at will over the length and breadth of our country ferreting out ways and means of injecting the heavy hand of the federal judiciary into the electoral processes of our states."

The senator could have hit the same nail on the head again with almost equal accuracy if he had said the civil rights commission is also a petit jury, with power to convict, and he could have hit it again if he had said the commission is a group of judges, with power to sentence.

Under the present setup, the commission will have the power to indict, to convict and to sentence. It is authorized to cite persons for contempt, which constitutes indictment; no trial jury is required; and it is freely admitted that federal judges will be virtually helpless when citations are presented by the commission and the special assistant attorney general.

Thus we arrive at trial by politbureau—the system used in Russia.

G.O.P. View For 100th Anniversary Of Lincoln's Election Is Unhappy

As President Eisenhower accustoms himself to the relaxation of a vacation on a government reservation at Newport, R.I., he should be enjoying the prospect that he cannot be pressured to run again, as he undoubtedly would be if the 22nd amendment to the Constitution did not bar him from doing so.

Perhaps he feels that way, because he can't dismiss the memory of a disappointing session of Congress. Even more of an intruder upon the privacy of his thoughts could be the long range specter of the uncertain situation which faces the Republican party as it approaches the 100th anniversary of the election of its first President.

With more than a year to go before the congressional elections of 1958, political prognosticators are convinced the Republicans have little chance to capture either House of Congress. Another Democratic Congress would be third in succession under a Republican president, an unprecedented situation in American history. It would mean that only in the first two years of his presidency, the legislative branch would have been controlled by the President's own party.

But even more grave from his point of view is the growing doubt that his protégé, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, may succeed him in the White House. This is not because the outlook for Nixon's nomination is clouded. On the contrary, developments of recent days have raised a question whether Nixon will have any effective opposition as Republican nominee in 1960.

Until now, political observers have been fairly unanimous in the view that Senator William F. Knowland, Republican leader of the Senate, who is retiring from Congress to run for governor of California, has in mind to use that office, if he is elected, as a springboard to the Presidency of the United States.

California governors are now elected for a four year term, and last week Knowland, in announcing his candidacy, reminded his audience that in every political office he has held — state assemblyman, state senator, Republican National committeeman and U.S. senator — he has "fulfilled his contract," meaning that he has served the full term to which he was elected.

This was regarded as an intimation that as governor he would decline to run against Nixon for California's delegates in 1960 and would discourage Republicans in other states from instructing delegates for him. In short, he could only be nominated by such a "draft" as was engineered by the Democratic convention for Adlai E. Stevenson at Chicago in 1952, when Stevenson had already been nominated a second time for governor of Illinois.

The 1960 election, the centennial of Abraham Lincoln's election to the presidency in 1860, will be a tremendous goal for the Republican party. Though it will be a distasteful anniversary for the five Southern states which Eisenhower carried in 1956, GOP leaders have long talked about the tremendous build-up of sentiment to commemorate their patron saint, which would help draw the Negro vote back into the Republican following.

They have not forgotten that Lincoln was elected because the Democratic party was split in two, and have had expectations that the centennial might see a similar development in 1960. It is possible that may happen, but present indications do not support such a hope.

The Democratic party as a whole would rather defeat Nixon than any other candidate the Republicans can put up. That dates back to the aspersions he cast upon the party for alleged treasonable activity — his exact words have been disputed — shortly after his election as Vice President.

Unless Knowland, whether elected governor of California or not, can be prevailed upon to be a candidate there seems to be no GOP possibility of standing who could defeat Nixon for the nomination. In recent polls, the Vice President has run second to Democrats who are discussed as possible presidential nominees. That may not bother the President much on his vacation, but it does not encourage the hope of a rebirth of the GOP.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Cardinal Francis Spellman Rates High In Mighty City Of New York

CARDINAL SPELLMAN

In the very mixed community that is New York City, as large in population as some European countries, widespread in area, complex as to race, color, creed, the foremost citizen is Cardinal Francis Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop, now celebrating the 25th anniversary of his consecration as bishop.

It is a curious role that Cardinal Spellman holds in New York. For apart from his episcopal duties in relation to his own church, he has won the affection and support of other religious groups not only by his Irish personality but by an urbane tolerance to the vast differences in human thought and human conduct. These qualities have endeared him to a community that has long known separatism, the distinctions that resulted from wave upon wave of immigrants.

The scions of the earliest settlers, the Dutch and the British, regarded themselves, "Old New York," as a people apart who enjoyed a social primogeniture, as it were. The Irish divided themselves on a basis of wealth, until the difference between a "lace curtain" Irishman and a "shanty" Irishman was as widespread as the difference between an Englishman and an Irishman back in the old country. As for the enormous Jewish population, the German Jews regarded the Russian, Polish and Rumanian Jews as "negroes," and even among the Negroes, there were sectarian distinctions between those who lived in the depths of Harlem and those who rose to the grand heights of Sugar Hill. And so it went throughout the community.

But to Cardinal Spellman, these distinctions meant nothing and among those whom he recognized as friends have been men and women of all these groups, none of whom he could recognize as more than human beings. Rejecting artificialities of rank, position, creed, Cardinal Spellman has found friendship wherever it was offered.

In the company of Jews or Protestants or even such as regard themselves as "emancipated" from ties of birth and tradition, he is a cheering friend, who speaks his mind frankly and yet inoffensively, a diplomat with a conscience. His capacity for work is enormous and he has not only reorganized his archdiocese until it functions with modern efficiency, but he has managed to bring out qualities and capacities in other men, so that many have left his office to serve in elevated positions in his church. Some day someone will organize a Spellman Alumni Association of bishops whose careers were started as assistants to the cardinal.

It is used to be that the cardinal's residence in New York City was known as the "power house" because it was believed that much of the politics of the city emanated therefrom. Whether that was so in the past, it is not so today. Cardinal Spellman, recognizing that moral force does not require the support of political power, has avoided politics altogether.

The Al Smith memorial dinner, which is one of his favorite charities, is as much Jewish as Catholic, as much Republican as Democratic. For many years, Tammany was dominated by Irish Catholics and it was assumed that it would always be so. But Carmine DeSapio, of Italian origin, is now the leader of the Democratic Party in city and state and is generally regarded as more liberal and liberal-minded than most of his predecessors on Tammany Hall. On the other hand, the leader of the Republican city organization is Thomas J. Curran, an Irish Catholic lawyer of distinction.

The amazing fact of New York, a fact which may well be considered in an understanding of our civilization, is that in New York City live together in "peace and friendship," to use the current Soviet slogan, some 50 races and nationalities, practicing a dozen or more religions, publishing newspapers in all their various tongues and among them stands the personality of a moral colossus, often called, behind his back, the "little man," a term of affection, Cardinal Francis Spellman.

And of an evening, when he takes his walk, boyhood friend, or Charlie Silver who went as far as the eighth grade in school but now heads the Board of Education, every passerby raises his hat or touches the brim or showers blessings on this very kindly, humble man who does so much for anybody who will let him do his. Indeed, he is one who washes the feet of his servant.

Don't be so shortsighted that you let a temporary heart throb steal $103,000 from your future earnings. Delilah also seduced Samson and cheated him out of 50 more years of big money!

So think far ahead if you want to get ahead. And send for my "Vocational Guidance Booklet," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Your future wife and children will be very grateful if you study it with care!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

"We have members who feel imposed upon if they must answer the door to tell our volunteer workers they won't pledge to the church."

Leo is at the crossroads. He can become a smart Jacob or a shortsighted Esau. His $1,000 looks big to him now, but it will produce $25,000 in later years if he uses it to gain even one year at college. Don't become so enslaved by a jalopy and a present sweetie that you pull the financial rug out from under your future wife and children!

Case V-383: Leo L., aged 18, is a high schooler who hasn't made up his mind about going on to college.

"Dr. Crane, I have about $1,000 saved from carrying a newspaper route during high school," he began.

"If I got a job to earn my board and room, that would help me through one year at the state university."

"But would it thus be worth investing my whole savings of the past 4 years?"

"I don't even know what I want to do in life. So what do you suggest?"

Ask Ben Franklin

"An investment in knowledge," said Benjamin Franklin, "always pays the best dividends."

That slogan is inscribed above the doorway on our Chicago Campus of Northwestern University.

Furthermore, most high school graduates haven't yet made up their minds as to their final life work.

Indeed, I once made a survey of my college seniors on our Evanston Campus of Northwestern University and half of them still didn't know what they planned to do.

Get that clearly! It was only a couple of months till they were graduating from the university.

forces attacked the national police station again. They also attacked two other buildings, the maritime police station and the arts and trades school building which also apparently had been occupied by rebels.

Navy Joins Fight

For the first time in the current wave of rebellion units of the Cuban navy were reported by residents of Cienfuegos to have joined in revolutionary action against the Batista regime.

Playing down this version, the government military command said rebels disguised in sailor uniforms had invaded the naval station at Cienfuegos and murdered some navy men in their sleep. Its statement said the rebels then fled to the national police station which meanwhile had been seized by other rebels.

Cienfuegos residents said however, that Jose San Roman Toledo a former navy lieutenant who had given himself the title of colonel, was the leader of the rebels.

All was reported quiet in the city late today. Heavy armed troops and police patrolled the streets. Troop cordons barred entrance to the city.

Places of business were again open, and public transport operating, but all commercial airline flights to the city were still suspended.

The high command, in a communique issued by the army, navy and national police chiefs, blamed former President Carlos Prío Socarrás, now in exile in Miami, Fla., for what it called the "senseless bloodshed" at Cienfuegos.

It said 40 to 50 rebels had been killed or wounded, while government losses were 12 killed and 13 wounded.

"Violent action" by the army, navy and police, it said, had crushed the revolt after a "bloody battle."

"We have to deplore the casualties caused by the criminal persistence of Prío and his accomplices which has provoked this senseless bloodshed," it added.

Prío was ousted by Batista in a coup just before elections scheduled for 1952. He is regularly accused by the government of plotting revolts, and denies the charges.

total of $2 billion from the President's budget requests.

His current working study of the operations of the program, which will be similar to an inspection trip he made two years ago, is being undertaken he said, in order to gain more first-hand information to fortify his stand "for further curtailing this vast, world-wide spending program."

"The billion-dollar cut which we were able to make from the President's budget for foreign aid funds this year will not damage the program in any manner whatsoever," Passman asserted. "It will instead, actually help the program," he said, "by eliminating some of the reckless waste and forcing some more commonsense and businesslike practice into the administration and operations."

"The money appropriated, along with previously appropriated unused funds," he added, "makes available for foreign aid more money than can be spent, prudently or otherwise — notwithstanding the unfounded assertions to the contrary by President Eisenhower and others. The reductions were made entirely upon the basis of the facts."

Suit Charges Ringlings Diverted Funds Of Circus

SARASOTA, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP)—Only sister of the founding Ringling brothers, has been circus day charging mismanagement and diversion of funds which it alleges cost the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus 20 million dollars in the past decade.

The suit asked that John Ringling North, his brother, Henry Ringling North, and Arthur M. Connelly be removed as officers of the corporation and an accounting of the corporation be made.

Mrs. Hester Ringling Sanford, a director and minority stockholder, and her son, Stuart G. Lancaster, a vice president, filed the suit.

The suit asked restoration of funds and asked appointment of a receiver to continue the circus operation. The circus is now in Denver, Colo.

The suit follows a writ of mandamus Mrs. Sanford obtained last February to force examination of the circus books.

The suit alleges that John Ringling North, the circus president and chairman of the board, charged $50,000 in personal expenses at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to the circus account in 1955 and 1956 and cited other alleged instances where personal and miscellaneous items were charged to the corporation to account known as "other's expense."

The suit says North spent $30,274 in 1954 and $50,763 in 1955 traveling in Europe and alleges that these expenses were charged to the corporation for securing new acts, but that the circus maintains an agent in Europe for this purpose.

The suit also claims that Henry Ringling North, vice president, treasurer and a director of the circus, maintained a personal apartment in Rome and that around the circus, he is known as "the vice president in charge of Rome."

made fun of us, like feeding chickens. Sometimes had soldiers fired blanks."

Shell picker Katsumi Narahara was quoted: "Soldiers fired blanks for fun at us when we went for a handful of shells they threw."

Another shell picker, Terukichi Mitsumata, told of being fired at by a U. S. soldier Jan. 22 and declared, "I was chased away very often. They sometimes fired, using blank ammunition, sometimes empty cartridge casings, aiming at our feet to scare us. Sometimes they threatened us with something like hand grenades."

"Bad soldiers sometimes lured us. There were cases where they seemed to laugh and clap their hands at the sight of us running away. As a rule U. S. soldiers drove the male brass pickers away but were kind to women and children."

Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the NAACP, arrived in town but said he has not decided whether to attend the Saturday hearing.

The force of National Guardsmen at Central high school, scene of the integration problem, was reduced to 15 men late Friday but full strength was ordered again for Monday when classes resume.

This was the situation Friday night.

To Confer about Evidence

Attorney General Herbert Brownell instructed the FBI to confer with Faubus' representatives about "certain evidence" the governor said he would be glad to provide and upon which he said he based his stand.

All was quiet at Little Rock's Central High School where eight Negroes had been scheduled to enroll Tuesday. They were not back today and the crowds had dwindled to about 150 ordinary persons.

A brief flurry was created over the arrest of Murray Gellerson, 20, Minneapolis, Minn., who posed as a reporter to get through National Guard ranks and was found to possess a three-inch knife when searched. After being questioned, guardsmen escorted him and five friends, all from Minneapolis, to the edge of town and told them: "This is the road to New Orleans."

where they had said they were headed.

Comes Down to Wire

Never before in the turbulent years since the high court ruled on May 17, 1954, that public schools must be integrated has the case come down to the wire as it was here. The issue: How far will the federal government go to force a state to obey the mandate of the court?

Faubus now into his second term as governor, and formerly considered a strong liberal, was in a position that brought him high praise from other southern states which sooner or later may be faced with just such a situation as this one. He did not, however, have 100 per cent cooperation at home where his actions were branded as "political."

Faubus insists his action was based solely on a desire to maintain the peace and to prevent "noting of the type that hit Clinton, Tenn., in the fall of 1955 when schools there were integrated."

Clinton schools today are still integrated and with such calm that when school opened there this week the only policeman around was a traffic cop at an intersection.

Doesn't Mention Integration

The Arkansas executive has not mentioned integration during the current crisis, although during his most recent gubernatorial campaign he promised that no district would be forced to integrate unwillingly. He contends the Little Rock district is dead set against it.

Faubus, personally incommunicado since Wednesday, has his executive mansion ringed with armed National Guardsmen as well as the beleaguered Central High School.

He advised President Eisenhower by telegram today: "I shall cooperate in upholding the constitution of Arkansas and the nation."

He said he would provide the government with "certain evidence" upon which I acted to prevent the public peace."

Brownell accepted the offer promptly, saying Faubus had "sought a meeting" with the FBI to present his facts. The attorney general said the information from Faubus would be used in a report to Judge Davies.

Coleman Gets Physical Check

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman's office announced he entered a hospital today "for a complete physical check up in preparation for" his special and regular sessions of the Legislature.

The announcement, released by executive assistant Eph Crosswell, said he will spend the night in University Hospital here "undergoing tests and will be released Saturday afternoon."

Crosswell told newsmen "It's just a check up."

The announcement text: "The office of Gov. J. P. Coleman said today that Gov. Coleman entered University Hospital Friday afternoon for a complete physical check up in preparation for the special session of the Legislature which will convene on November 4th, and the regular session which will follow in January. Cross Burned At Levittown

LEVITTOWN, Pa., Sept. 6 (AP)—A five foot cross of tree branches was burned today on the lawn next door to Levittown's first Negro family.

The cross was burned in the yard of Lewis Wechsler, who said he was not opposed to the Negro family's presence and helped them get settled in their new home.

Wechsler said he believed the burning cross was the work of children or pranksters. He discovered the cross today when he went outside to get his morning newspaper. The branches had been bound together with gasoline-soaked rags.

Yesterday, several gasoline filled milk bottles with some crude fuses attached were found under bushes a short distance from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Myers, who several weeks ago, became the first Negroes to live in this planned community of 60,000. The move prompted eight straight nights of noisy demonstrations by some residents of the community.

Suit Charges Ringlings Diverted Funds Of Circus

SARASOTA, Fla., Sept. 6 (AP)—Suit was filed in Circuit Court today charging mismanagement and diversion of funds which it alleges cost the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus 20 million dollars in the past decade.

The suit asked that John Ringling North, his brother, Henry Ringling North, and Arthur M. Concello be removed as officers of the corporation and an accounting of funds be made.

Mrs. Hester Ringling Sanford, a director and minority stockholder, and her son, Stuart G. Lancaster, a vice president, filed the suit.

The suit asked restoration of funds and asked appointment of a receiver to continue the circus operation. The circus is now in Denver, Colo.

The suit follows a writ of mandamus Mrs. Sanford obtained last February to force examination of the circus books.

The suit alleges that John Ringling North, the circus president and chairman of the board, charged $50,097 in personal expenses at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to the circus account in 1955 and 1956 and cited other alleged instances where personal and miscellaneous items were charged to the corporation account known as "officers expense."

The suit says North spent $48,278 in 1954 and $50,763 in 1955 traveling in Europe and alleged that these expenses were charged to the corporation for securing new acts, but that the circus maintains an agent in Europe for this purpose.

The suit also claims that Henry Ringling North, vice president, treasurer and a director of the circus, maintained a personal apartment in Rome and that around the circus he is known as "the vice president in charge of Rome."

John Ringling North, son of the only sister of the founding Ringling brothers, has been circus president since 1946 and the suit alleges that during that time "mismanagement and diversion of funds" has cost the corporation approximately 20 million dollars.

It adds that such fees as outlined in 45 paragraphs of alleged acts of mismanagement are illustrative only and are not to be considered complete.

Mrs. Sanford is the daughter of Charles Ringling, one of the founders of the circus. She and her children and other descendants of Charles control 49 per cent of the circus stock, North and his brother control 51 per cent.

Mrs. Sanford now is at her summer home in Chautauque, N. Y. John Ringling North reportedly is in Europe, and Concello is with the circus.

Arms Parley Formally Ends In Britain

LONDON, Sept. 6 (UP)—Russia and the West broke off disarmament negotiations in bitter stalemate tonight after five and one-half months of talks that for a time brought them closer than ever before to agreement on cutting arms and stopping nuclear tests.

The five-power United Nations disarmament subcommittee recessed after Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin refused even to set a date for new negotiations.

Zorin insisted that any future talks take place in the United Nations General Assembly.

Today's session was the 157th in the stormy three-year history of meetings by the subcommittee's five members — the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada.

Hopes Were High

Western hopes had been high until Aug. 26 when Russia announced a successful intercontinental ballistic missile test. The next day Zorin began rejecting Western concessions.

In the previous five months of talks Zorin had been amiable and both sides made major concessions. Russia accepted open skies inspection and the West agreed to a two-year suspension of nuclear tests.

All the Western delegates—Harold E. Stassen of the United States, Allan Bole of Britain, Jules Moch of France and David Ritchie of Canada—pleaded today for resumption of the arms cut talks Oct. 1.

Zorin coldly refused. He again attacked the Western package plan, accused the west of trying to avoid a U. N. debate, and hinted Russia never would consent to five-power disarmament talks.

W. Monroe Jolts Neville In 7-6 Upset On Gridiron Here

West Monroe's Rebels, a lowly one game winner last year, served notice they've seceded from the "have-nots" this year with a jolting 7-6 upset of Neville, state AA champs last season, at Neville Stadium last night before a screaming capacity crowd.

Stung with a Neville touchdown in the first quarter, West Monroe roared back with a 74 yard march in the third quarter for a score with quarterback Johnny Huntsman carrying over after a pass interference penalty had put the ball on the two. Huntsman booted the extra point through the uprights for the point that won it.

The losers, with halfback Gene Howard and fullback Bill Depriest sparking, had the edge in the statistics with 229 yards gained to 129 for West Monroe but the Rebels contained Neville around the middle of the field most of the game and decisively halted their only non-scoring threat at the 16 in the fourth quarter.

Neville roared 80 yards for their first quarter score with a beautiful 65 yard romp by Depriest highlighting the march. Jerry Stovall's punt to Willie Ragan late in the initial period started it off. Ragan took the kick on his own 20 and carried it to the 23.

Ouachita Beaten By Homer, 13-6

HOMER, La. (Special)—The Homer High School Pelicans got the jump on the Ouachita High Lions of Monroe with a first quarter touchdown and held on to defeat the thinly-manned invaders, 13 to 6, in the curtain-raising game of the season for both teams.

Sammy Camp sliced five yards off tackle for the opening Homer touchdown and Fred Miller kicked the point that assured Homer of the lead all night.

Eddie McGwen, a dangerous runner all night in the Ouachita backfield, set up the Lion touchdown in the third quarter with a 63 yard sprint to Homer's 13.

Seconds later quarterback Rex Carter crashed over from the two and Ouachita was still in the game.

But a Ouachita fumble brought Homer another touchdown and assurance of victory, a Pelican punt was fumbled by Ouachita with Fred Miller recovering for Homer inside the Ouachita ten. Ray Wilkinson skirted left end from the seven for the final touchdown.

The first downs were 12 to 6 with Homer in front.

Score by quarters:
Ouachita 0 0 6 0-6
Homer 7 0 6 0-13

Ouachita scoring: Touchdown - Carter.
Homer scoring: Touchdowns - Camp, Wilkinson. Point after touchdown - Miller.

Howard went 2 to the 25 before Depriest shook loose on his dash to the West Monroe 10. Stovall finally brought him down. From there Ragan took it over on the next play on a quarterback keep around right end.

Ragan's kick for the extra point was no good, setting the stage for Huntsman's successful kick for the winners.

The second quarter was fairly even with Monroe doing most of the traveling after a Stovall punt put them on their own five.

The winners started their scoring drive in the third period after Joe Cage punted out of bounds for Neville on the Rebels' 26. Mickey Bass carried to the 32 and Joe Ford rambled to the 39 for a first down.

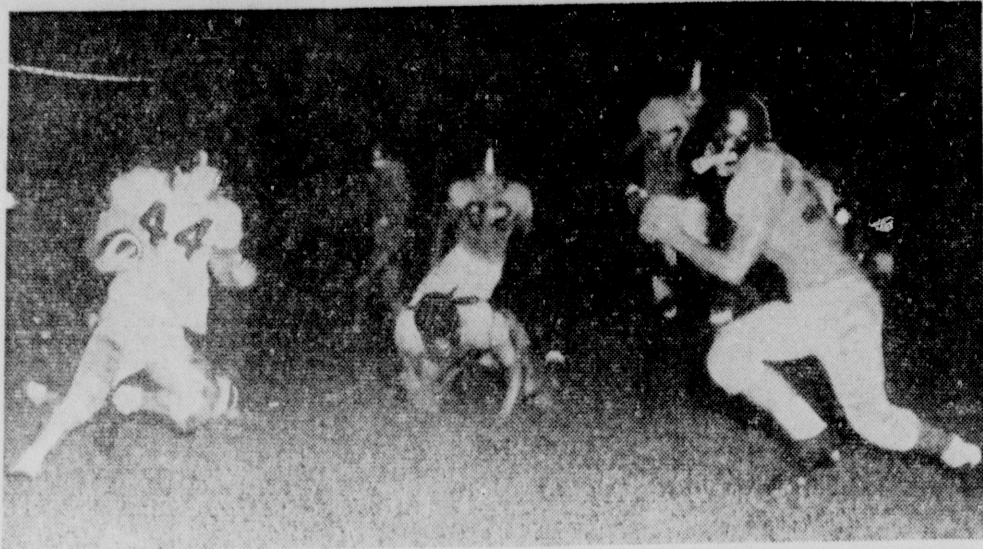

Bass moved again, this time to the Neville 49 before he lost one. Perkins went to the 47 before Huntsman threw to Ford for another first down on the 36. Bass ran to the 29, Ford to the 20 and Perkins to the 9 for another first. Bass went up the middle for no gain and Huntsman threw to Perkins near the goal line incompletely but Neville interfered with the catch, giving West Monroe the ball on the 2. Perkins went for no gain before Huntsman went over on a quarterback sneak.

Huntsman's kick wasn't right up the middle but it was through and that was the ball game.

Neville started a drive in the same period from their 44 after a punt and got as far as the Rebels' 16 before West Monroe stiffened in the fourth quarter and threw the Tigers back to the 32 before taking over.

That was Neville's deepest penetration other than their scoring march and the game ended with Neville going wide and thrown unsuccessfully inside their own 20.

Cavaliers Gain 6-6 Tie With East Jefferson

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6 (AP)—De La Salle's Cavaliers marched 85 yards for a second quarter touchdown tonight to gain a 6-6 deadlock with East Jefferson in the Tripe-A football season opener for both teams.

East Jefferson converted a fumbled punt return into a touchdown in the first period with halfback Red Cannon going over for the score.

A 37-yard pass from Don Bossier to Al Sagana was the big play in De La Salle's march to a touchdown. Bossier went eight yards for the six points.

The second half settled down to a battle of fumbles with neither team mustering a serious threat. A crowd of 5,000 turned out for the battle.

J-H Tigers Hand Jena's Giants 20 To 0 Defeat

JENA (Special)—Jonesboro-Hodge scored 20 points last night to wallop Jena, 20-0.

In the first quarter, Troy Bryant, Jonesboro fullback, scored a one-yard out, the drive starting on the Jonesboro 45. His kick for the extra point was no good, and the score stood at 6-0.

In the second quarter, Morris Douglas, Jonesboro substitute half-back, scored on an eight-yard left-end pitch-out and Douglas also ran the extra point over. The drive, starting when Jonesboro held for downs on their own 35 yard line, ended in a third quarter no score.

In the fourth quarter, on the third play in the period, Donnie Brunson, halfback, scored on a three-yard plunge; Troy Bryant ran the extra point. The drive started on Jonesboro's 48. Final score was Jonesboro 20, Jena, 0. Jena's only threat was late in the fourth quarter on a drive to the Jonesboro 10, where it stalled. Jonesboro's quarterback Lamone Massey, with his jump passes over center to left end Robert Cook, was particularly effective.

Jimmy Aldridge and Ed Williams, Jena halfbacks, swept Jonesboro's ends but the Giants were unable to drive up the middle.

Holly Ridge Eagles Beat Rayville Rivals, 7 To 0

RAYVILLE, La. (Special)—The Holly Ridge High School Eagles turned a fumble in the second quarter into a touchdown and kicked the extra point to upset the Rayville High Hornets, 7 to 0, here last night before a football season-opening crowd of about 3,000 fans. Rayville, outweighed by the bulkier Eagles, drew first blood when Paul Hunter, a 125-pound halfback, took a pass from Branch and scampered 61 yards for the Hornet touchdown.

O'Conner missed the try for the point and that meant the difference in at least a tie and a defeat for the Hornets.

The Eagles drove into Rayville territory in the second quarter only to be stopped at the Hornet 23.

But Rayville fumbled, and Holly Ridge pounced on the ball, and marched for the tying touchdown in seven plays.

McManus capped the drive with a run from the seven. McManus then converted and that was the ball game.

Most of the game was played in Holly Ridge territory but Rayville couldn't hit "promised land" again. Hunter was the big gun for the Hornets, while Futch and McManus stood out for Holly Ridge.

LaSalle High Tips Columbia By 25-0 Count

OLLA, La. (Special)—The LaSalle High Tigers of Olla, defending district 1-A champions, held to one touchdown in the first half, go rolling in the third period and marched over the Columbia High Crimson Tide, 25-0, here last night as the neighboring teams tried the lid off their gridiron campaigns.

Everett Brooks, on a quarterback keep, scampered 54 yards for the touchdown that put the Tigers in front in the first quarter.

Brooks also added two more touchdowns in the third period, giving ten yards on a sneak for one and skirting right end from the 15 for another.

Fullback Bob Allbritton counted the final LaSalle touchdown on an eight-yard slant in the last period. Gary Russell added the Tigers' only extra point behind the third Bengal touchdown.

Columbia drove to the LaSalle four in the first quarter but lost the ball on downs after looking sharp in a 65-yard march.

C. C. Wright played out ending ball at tackle for LaSalle.

Tallulah Falls Before Carr's Greenies, 7-0

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 6 (AP)—Halfback Phillip Bass took a pitchout in the first play of the last quarter tonight for a touchdown in the Big Eight Conference team's 7-0 victory over Tallulah, La.

Quarterback G. N. Robinson kicked the extra point.

Vicksburg's score climaxed a 56-yard drive on eight plays.

Class AAA Tallulah had its deepest penetration stopped at Vicksburg's five-yard line in the second quarter. A 15-yard penalty stopped the drive.

Vicksburg threatened again in the final quarter when fullback Fred Baldwin ran 60 yards to the Tallulah five-yard line.

Waterproof And Vidalia Battle To 7-7 Deadlock

WATERPROOF, La. (Special)—Waterproof, jolted with a Vidalia touchdown on the first play of the game, came back with a second quarter touchdown and extra point for a 7-7 tie here last night.

Edgar Chase raced 66 yards on the first play from scrimmage for the Vidalia touchdown and added the extra point for a 7-0 lead for the invaders before a lot of folks were settled good.

Billy Calvert's 11 yard run gave Waterproof its touchdown, Luther Andrews ran for the extra point that tied up the hard fought contest.

The Thibodaux touchdown came in the final quarter against Terrebonne reserves on a 30-yard pass from P. J. Aucoin to Jimmy LaGarde.

Terrebonne was ranked third among triple-A teams in the pre-season Associated Press poll.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., Sept. 6 (UP)—Sandy Saddler, former featherweight champion, watched Sugar Ray Robinson box two rounds against Lee Williams of New York City and said he believed Robinson was wise in cutting down the pace of his preparations for the defense of his middleweight crown against Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

Cubs Stall Braves, 5 To 4

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 6 (UP)—The last place Chicago Cubs socked over all their runs in the seventh inning tonight to defeat the league-leading Milwaukee Braves 5-4. It was the Braves third loss in a row.

Milwaukee, however, retained its 6½ game lead over the second place St. Louis Cardinals who were defeated, 5-4, by Cincinnati.

A two-run single by Chuck Tanner, a former Brave, and a two-run double by Walt Moryn were the big blows of the inning as the Cubs batted around against three Milwaukee pitchers.

LaGrange Romps Over DeRidder

DERIDDER, La., Sept. 6 (AP)—Gerald Smith scored 13 points tonight to lead favored LaGrange to a 25-0 victory over DeRidder in their opening football game.

Smith opened the scoring in the second quarter with a two yard run. Bill Creveling followed with a 42-yard punt return to paydirt.

Smith scored again in the third period on a four yard run. LaGrange closed out the scoring in the same period when Don Dreux tossed a 15-yard pass to Tom Thonhieu.

Fishing In Louisiana

The Associated Press
A State Wildlife and Fisheries Dept. biologist says there will be some excellent freshwater fishing in the Cofax area next spring, a windfall from attempts to bring industry into the state.

That's when Lake Iat is expected to reach its peak as a spot to catch panfish—bass, bluegill, crappie, goggle-eyed and bream. A dam was thrown across Bayou Darrow at cost of $225,000, primarily to attract industry, possibly paper pulp mills. The big dam was dedicated this week in ceremonies headed by Lt. Gov. Lether Frazier.

But all that water shouldn't go for naught for fishermen, not as far as the WL&F's fisheries division was concerned.

Harry Schafer, head of the fisheries division, which has a direct interest in re-stocking such lakes, says the fisheries men saw to it that plenty of these panfish were put into the big reservoir.

A smaller lake had been at the site, Schafer said, and, in the re-making and enlarging of the lake, it was cleared of trees and shrubs and made a better fishing ground. The lake already is being fished, he said, but by next spring the fingerlings poured into the lake from state hatcheries will have reached the frying stage.

This should result in bass in the one-pound category, and bream-type fish weighing from one-quarter to one-half pound.

So the lake, located about 35 miles north of Alexandria, may be a boon to the fisherman and the industrialist as well.

Schafer says the next big re-stocking project for the division is right in the middle of metropolitan New Orleans — the famous City Park lagoon.

Fisheries division men will wade into the double task of killing the multitudes of shad found to be infesting the lagoon in recent tests and replacing them with varieties more pleasing to the palate and more fun to catch.

Here are some reports of big ones and strings.

Ernest Frantz and Steve Radosta caught their second tarpon in the New Orleans City Limits Tarpon Rodeo over the Labor Day weekend. Frantz' second silver King weighed in at 81½ pounds, Radosta's 91½ pounder was hooked at the mouth of the Chef and Lake Borgne.

The Rigolets and Lake Borgne areas also have produced good catches of mackerel, jewfish up to 80 pounds, tripletail, and jackfish. Two men caught 100 speckle trout by fishing high in salt flats, and a party of five caught 350 speckles fishing by flare in Black Bay Saturday night.

Reports from the Lake Charles-Cameron Parish area indicate good fresh and salt water fishing. Boats over Labor Day weekend brought in from 500 to 1,000 large red snappers from the 28-mile and 47-mile banks. Catches of spanish mackerel, dolphin, jewfish and ling also are reported, with the mackerel biting still bait near the banks.

Speckle trout have been hitting well in the inland Moss Lake, Prien Lake and Big Lake and extremely well offshore from the Mermentau River and Calcasieu ship channel jetties. Shrimping and crabbing is reported excellent.

Bass, Bream and Crappie are reported biting well in Calcasieu River's west fork and in Houston River north of Lake Charles.

Bertrand May Oppose For Rep. Willis' House Seat

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (P)—State Rep. Richard Bertrand, one of Gov. Earl Long's House leaders, said today he is considering opposing U.S. Rep. Edwin Willis in the Third Congressional District next year.

The Lafayette legislator, a frequent Capitol visitor, said he has been touring the Third District "talking to friends."

Bertrand said he hasn't made up his mind, but confirmed he sponsored a Lockport supper three weeks ago.

"Lockport is my former home town," he commented, "but you can say I wouldn't sponsor anything like that just for the fun of it."

Bertrand was elected to the House in 1948, went out in 1952 and returned in 1956.

Discussing possible state legislation, Bertrand said he will take up in the 1958 Legislature the plight of absentee property owners who are taxed through bond issues without being allowed to cast ballots.

He said he would attempt to modify state law on voting requirements to cover bond issue balloting in cities and parishes.

Bertrand also said he plans to sponsor a law for compulsory auto insurance, requiring car owners applying for licenses to produce proof of liability coverage.

Several months ago, Rep. Walter Chachere of Franklin Parish said he would sponsor a similar proposal.

Louisiana now has a financial responsibility law, which does not affect motorists until they have an accident. Then they must show financial responsibility to protect the public. Insurance is not the only method this can be done.

The theory behind the existing law is that it will encourage drivers to be careful, avoiding that first accident.

Bertrand termed the law "stupid" because a driver is not considered liable until he has had that first accident.

"A law is stupid," he said, "when it provides that someone must prove he is an irresponsible driver before he is made to bear the responsibility of injuring or causing damage to another person, car or property."

Under the mandatory protection proposal, Bertrand said, enforcement would be easier and less expensive.

Grace's Plant Nearly Finished

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (P)—Officials of the W. R. Grace Co. said yesterday their Polymer Chemicals division plant four miles north of here will be completed within six weeks.

The 20-million-dollar plant is scheduled to open operations about Jan. 1.

The project, covering 30 acres, will be the first plant in the state and one of the first in the nation making the new high density Polyethylene.

The high density plastic will be bagged and sent to three centralized shipping centers in various sections of the country.

Egg slicers are inexpensive and are extremely useful to have on hand for hard-boiled eggs that are to be used in salads and sandwiches or as a garnish.

Linda Wyrick Honored With Shower In Graf Home, Prior To School In Graf Country Home Near Swartz

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Walter Graf, with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ezernach, Major and Mrs. Emil E. Wisakowsky and Sgt. and Mrs. W. A. Langston, entertained in the Graf home with a party for Linda Wyrick prior to her return to school, at the Louisiana State School for Spastic Children.

Mer Rouge Pair Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago the little Baptist Church of Bastrop, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Ruth Higman and E. W. Andrews, by the Rev. Almond, and on Thursday, the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Mer Rouge, their home during the intervening years.

Mrs. Andrews, attired in an afternoon formal of blue lace and net, stood with Mr. Andrews to receive the host of friends and relatives who came to extend their felicitations. Mrs. Doyle Wilson and W. C. Andrews—sister and brother of the groom—welcomed the guests at the door.

Attendant of the original wedding present at the reception was Mrs. R. W. Hardin, the former Gladys Higman.

The reception suite was decorated with golden chrysanthemums, with golden tapers burning in burnished brass holders. The service table was centered with the 'mums and the three-tiered wedding cake was embossed with touches of gold. Mrs. Leland Loughridge presided at the bowl of golden punch, and was assisted by Mrs. O. D. Ward of England, Ark., Mrs. J. T. Lewis of Shreveport and Mrs. John Stamper of Mer Rouge, K.

At the guest book was Miss Ann Andrews, a granddaughter. Others extending the courtesies were Mrs. Gessye Graves, Mrs. W. C. Andrews, Mrs. Briscoe Higman of Pine Bluff, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gibson of Monroe.

Tea girls were Miss Karen Williams, Miss Lenna Armstrong, Miss Susan Montgomery, Miss Verna Mae Black; all of them wearing taut length formal frocks.

More than two hundred guests called during the appointed hours.

The reception area was decorated with attractive arrangements of fall flowers in varied containers. The party table was draped with a medallion lace cloth, centered with lavender gladioli, digitalis and marigolds of palest yellow. Lantana and colorful figurines completed the setting.

On the gallery, the refreshment table presented an enchanting picture for both youngsters and grown-ups. Set with colorful napkins and cups, a grey ceramic squirrel and a pink china cat were the eye-catchers.

A gaily decorated barrow-load of gifts were presented to Linda, at this, her first party. She enjoyed the refreshments with the following guests: Bercille, Carolyn and Eugene Wisakowsky, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ezernach with David, Danny and Judy; Linda Lou Langston, Mrs. Mazie Crawley, Mrs. Mattie Cotton, Maxine Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Ray Wyrick with Nelson, Kenneth and Ronald.

And the Reverend and Mrs. Ralph Cain with Joel, Noel, Richard and Paul; Mrs. Jessie A. Tullos with Billy and Nellwyn, Mrs. Wilford O. Smith and Gail, Mrs. Ann Dudley with Roger and Rodney, Mrs. J. C. Stevenson, Mrs. Winzel Gaines, Sandra, Glynn and Judy Rhodes.

Mrs. J. D. Dorris, Mrs. Nora King, Mrs. Jewell Dorris with Darlene Faye, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Price with Regina, M-sgt. S. E. Aycock, young Whit Whitmeyer, Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Mrs. W. F. Carson, Mrs. V. J. Pleasant, Mrs. C. C. Carroll, Mrs. B. B. White, Mrs. Elizabeth Parkerson with Cathy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ezernack.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ray Wyrick and is a student at the school for spastic children at Alexandria.

When you braise pork chops, add very little liquid to the pan so that by the time the meat is tender the liquid will have cooked away and the chops will be well browned.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT M. CADY

White Urns Filled With Snowy Blooms Form Background For Wedding Of Bobbie Faye Jinks And Herbert Cady

The intimate little Loch Arbor Baptist Church, decorated with antique white urns filled with gladioli and chrysanthemums, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Bonnie Faye Jinks and Herbert M. Cady on August 24.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jinks of rural Monroe, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cady of West Monroe.

As the ushers, Huey and Wesley Jinks, brothers of the bride, seated the guests, Mrs. Patsy O'Neal gave the pre-nuptial concert, and accompanied Miss Shirley Works as she sang "Because of You" and "Always". Mrs. Wesley Jinks clad in blue batiste, lighted the myriad candles in the chancel.

Standing before an ivy entwined arch, flanked by tall candelabra filled with burning tapers, the Reverend D. E. Sanson stood with the groom and the best man, Jasper T. Hoffpaur, to receive the vows.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles T. Johnson, frocked in a pink embroidered sheath with matching demi-cap and carrying a bouquet of white 'mums tied with pink ribbon, preceded the bride at the processional.

The bride entered on the arm of her father who presented her to her fiancé. She wore a smartly styled white linen, banded and belted in blue satin, and wore a matching blue velvet chapeau touched with rhinestones and sequins. Her bouquet, of white orchids tied with streamers knotted with tuberoses, was carried atop a brides bible; and she observed the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

The Rev. Sanson charged the young couple with their obligations as they exchanged rings, and pronounced the benediction.

A reception followed the ceremony, and was held in the church parlours.

The couple received with their attendants and their mothers. Mrs. Jinks was attired in ebony crepe spiced with white, white accessories and carnations in her corsage. The groom's mother was clad in blue faille, worn with blue and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table was overlaid with Italian lace over pink tulle, and was centered with a Buckingham bowl filled with carnations, tuberoses and snow-on-the-mountain. Silver candelabra with lighted tapers shed a soft glow over the romantic scene. The bluish-pink wedding confection and punch bowl were footed with fern, tuberoses and tiny pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Assisting in the service were Mrs. Grace Beasley, Mrs. Orin Gwin, Mrs. Ouita Cady and Mrs. Eloise Edgar. Mrs. O. Robinson presided at the guest register.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left for Chattanooga, Tenn., and upon returning will reside at 3811 Webster in Monroe.

Out of town guests were: Huey Jinks of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hoffpaur with Paula Kay; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hoffpaur; Mrs. Laura Hoffpaur and James Hoffpaur - all of Port Arthur, Texas; Mrs. Glennie Morgan of Orange, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Niles of Jackson, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edgar with Terry and James Roy of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beasley of Hammond.

HAVE YOU HEARD

THE KING AND I, being staged by the Little Theatre group in Shreveport, drew Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Clark Boardman and Miss Mary Wilton McHenry over for the Wednesday night performance. On tonight Ivan Uttal will fly over to see the production as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lyons.

BACK FROM VACATION are Mr. and Mrs. B. L. McRee with their sons, Kenneth and James, and Mrs. R. A. McRee. They touched Dolphin Island, visited Miss Margie Williams in New Orleans and attended a family reunion at Port Vincent.

RETURNED from Shreveport... and glad of it... is Miss Norma Jean Holcomb who came home this week.

PRACTICALLY NEW arrival is Donald Wayne Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murphy, and grandson of the Clay Hammons here. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Murphy. The young fellow... with his parents... will move to Winnsboro to make a new home in the very near future.

TRADING TOWNS are Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Noble who, after a vacation trip to California, are making plans to return to their old home in Shreveport. They, with their son, will leave as soon as business details are cleared here.

Tea Celebrates Golden Anniversary And Honors New Faculty Members

The Golden Anniversary of the founding of the Columbia High School was marked this week with a tea which also honored five new faculty members.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Glynn Swett, Mrs. Stuart Fluit, Frank Mancill, Mr. Richards and Miss Florine Bingham.

The reception rooms were lovely with artistic arrangements of golden hued blossoms, placed throughout the area. In the receiving line were Ira D. Reeves, Mrs. Bert Bradford, J. D. Blackmon, and Mrs. Norman McHardy. Registering the guests in the golden book were Miss Ann Morris and Miss Dee Ann Busch.

The refreshment table was covered with a gold-bordered cloth and centered with a handsome display of palest gold carnations. The fruited punch and petit fours continued the color scheme.

Tea girls were Miss Imogene Mott, Miss Carolyn McDonald, Miss Lynn Morris, Miss Phyllis Ann Winters and Miss Joyce Ann Horn.

The A. B. Griggs' Are Surprised With Clan Meet

The day started off with a happy surprise for Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Griggs, Sr., when members of their family arrived unannounced for a little reunion.

Coming in for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Chandler of Bienville; Mr. and Mrs. Berkie Sanford and Melva, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee with daughter Debbie of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Stewart and son James, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinette of Bossier City.

DATEBOOK

A meeting for those assisting in the Little Theater membership drive for the 1957-58 season will be held in the home of Mrs. Kennedy Brown at 2305 Myrtle, at 10:00 a.m.

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband died two years ago and I married a widower who lost his wife about the same time.

The man I married has a son 9 years of age. My own boy is 10. We hoped they'd be pals but it hasn't worked out that way.

My own boy was very close to his father and losing him suddenly was a shock. He was emotionally disturbed for several months and had to be under a doctor's care.

My step-son is just plain mean. He punishes my child, hides his baseball equipment and is rude to me. He does poorly in school and several teachers have complained about his deportment. I've tried to be impartial but it's difficult when my step-son is always cooking up some trouble and has to be punished.

My husband is no help. He says to leave the boys alone and they will outgrow their difficulties. Is he right? — W. M. M.

He is wrong. These boys won't outgrow their difficulties — they'll just learn how to cover them up better. Many adults who have personality problems are carrying around childhood hurts and fears that were supposed to be "outgrown."

Interesting that you describe your child as "emotionally disturbed" but your step-son is "just plain mean." You recognize that your boy suffered a severe emotional shock when he lost his father, but you ignore the fact that your step-son may have suffered the same shock when he lost his mother.

Both of these children need patience, love — and professional help. See that they get it.

Dear Ann: I've been married seven months and have a terrible problem. My wife, age 22 can't spend an entire night in bed. She gets up about 2 a.m. and takes her pillow and blanket and sleeps on the floor. We have a double bed so this leaves me with just a sheet. Of course this wakes me up and I have a hard time getting back to sleep. It's very annoying and we are beginning to bicker.

I asked her if perhaps I snored and she said I did not. Her only explanation is her back feels better in the morning if she sleeps on the floor. I tried it once and it almost killed me. I really need some advice, Ann, even though I'll bet my last dollar: this is the craziest problem you've ever had in your entire career. Thank you. — Max.

Don't bet, Max... you'd lose. Tell your wife that many people rest better on a hard surface and they don't have to sleep on the floor. What she needs is a harder mattress and an orthopedic board under it. You're welcome — and pleasant dreams.

Dear Ann: I'm 27, a divorcee, and fairly attractive. You've probably read thousands of letters that begin this way, but I hope you'll finish mine and give me some advice.

I'm a receptionist in a small office, have lots of friends and numerous dates. I want to get married again and have a family before I'm too old. My first marital experience was so bitter that it's taken me all of five years to believe that a man could be decent. Now that I am thinking seriously about getting married I find there isn't a likely prospect in the bunch.

I'm not interested in married men, or younger punks who want to move in and let someone support them. Also, I don't go in for the racy set who thinks marriage should come after people have proved they are compatible on a 24-hour a day basis. Where do I start? — L. C. M.

WHY GROW OLD?

You Can Give Yourself
A Manicure; Here's How

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women give themselves home manicures. It is perfectly possible to give yourself a good one if you will follow certain procedures.

First, remove any old polish with polish remover. An oily one is best. Wet a piece of cotton with the remover and hold it on the nail for a few seconds. Then wipe the polish off.

Next, file the nails. Most women prefer an emery board to a metal file. Do not saw back and forth with the emery board. File in only one direction as you shape your nails. Smooth the nails with the back of the emery board.

Now soak the hands in soapy water for a few minutes. Dry the hands. Tip an orange wood stick with cotton and dip this into cuticle remover. Gently push the cuticle back. If necessary use a cuticle nipper to remove hangnails or extremely roughened cuticle. This is never ideal but is often necessary.

Applying Polish

Use the orange stick to clean the tips of the nails. Now it is time to apply polish. First comes the base or colorless coat. Next apply the colored polish. Most women find it best to spread the fingers on a table to keep them steady while applying the polish. If you should get some polish on the cuticle or skin about the nail use your orange stick with a little polish remover.

Two coats are best. The polish looks better and lasts longer. Allow plenty of time for the polish to dry thoroughly before going about your business.

If you wish to make your nails look longer, leave a very thin line unpainted at each side of the nail and take polish to the tips of the nails. If you want to make them appear shorter, do not paint the moon, or the tips.

Some women prefer to buff their nails rather than use polish.

Well cared for nails are an essential in good grooming!

On 'Credit'

"The Cost of Credit" was the topic of discussion led by Mrs. Euna D. Spielman at the Colony Home Demonstration meeting. She pointed out the two types of credit, the way to use credit and to regard it as a friend, but not to abuse it.

The Fair booth this year will be a farm booth and the committee in charge will be Mrs. W. A. Gray, Mrs. E. W. Earl, Mrs. Patricia Carr, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee and Mrs. James Acree.

The Council report was given by Mrs. Drew Anderson; Clothing, Mrs. Acree; Home Furnishing, Percy Neely; Civil Defense, Mrs. Huckabee; Food Preparation, Mrs. Henry Wroten.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Neely on Lakeshore Avenue in Lakeshore addition.

The following members were present. Mrs. L. C. Carpenter, Mrs. Neely, Mrs. Wroten, Mrs. Earl, Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Acree, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Huckabee and visitors Mrs. Benoit Williams and Mrs. Spielman.

Fine clam chowder can be made at home in practically any part of the country now because canned and frozen clams of high quality are generally available.

PARTY-PRETTY, is this quality cotton dress designed especially for the junior Miss. The ensemble boasts a waist-length buttoned jacket and smartly tabbed pockets. The blouse is a modish piece, giving a soft touch to the suit. The skirt is gathered all around and has a self-belt. It is lovely in brown with yellow, navy with robins-egg blue, both of which are right for fall.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

With Another Youngster On Way
Mother Asks Help In Training Two

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

By the time a child is three years old you certainly can expect cooperation for good toilet habits. Here is a good eater, but one who fights going to the toilet and to bed for a nap and is cross for an hour after she awakens.

Her brother is 14 months old and still is taking a bottle twice at night, and is also untrained. He is chubby and well but does not eat much. Mrs. M. C. W. has four other children and is going to have another baby in the fall. Naturally she is concerned about getting these children out of diapers.

It might be wise to put the older child to bed earlier at night and skip the nap. At three years of age some children do drop naps in favor of just a rest period with toys and no pressure to sleep. One hour in bed is enough for them.

You might transfer her to the large toilet and get better response than on the "potty." She might feel more grown-up and act that way. Both of the children should be taken to the toilet before and after breakfast, mid-morning, before and after lunch.

mid-afternoon and before and after the night meal and before going to bed. The older children might help with these tasks and also talk the children into cooperation.

Force will accomplish little and punishment less. But regularity and an expectation that they will act when taken to the toilet will do far more. Punishment seems to confuse the child because she does not know that she is being punished for the WAY she is acting instead of for what she is doing. Children attempt to "hold back" because a parent disapproves their behavior. You don't want this to happen.

Don't Fuss

Take toilet habits calmly. Give the children regular opportunities to go and don't make too great a fuss about it. This is the way to act, your attitude proclaims, and you expect the child to conform.

The younger child might have a better appetite for foods if he drank less milk. Give him water in the night, or very much diluted milk and he'll get out of the habit of waking to be fed. The thinned-down milk will not satisfy his appetite so that he will find solid foods more appealing.

If you would like my free leaflet which discusses this problem self-addressed envelope with your of toilet training, send a stamped, request for leaflet No. 65 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Bertrand May Oppose For Rep. Willis' House Seat

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP)—been touring the Third District thing like that just for the fun of it. Bertrand was elected to the House in 1948, went out in 1952 and returned in 1956. He said he would attempt to modify state law on voting requirements to cover bond issue balloting in cities and parishes. Bertrand also said he plans to sponsor a law for compulsory auto insurance, requiring car owners applying for licenses to produce proof of liability coverage. Several months ago, Rep. Walter Chachere of Franklin Parish said he would sponsor a similar proposal. Louisiana now has a financial responsibility law, which does not affect motorists until they have an accident. Then they must show financial responsibility to protect the public. Insurance is not the only method this can be done. The theory behind the existing law is that it will encourage drivers to be careful, avoiding that first accident. Bertrand termed the law "stupid" because a driver is not considered liable until he has had that first accident. "A law is stupid," he said, "when it provides that someone must prove he is an irresponsible driver before he is made to bear the responsibility of injuring or causing damage to another person, car or property." Under the mandatory protection proposal, Bertrand said, enforcement would be easier and less expensive.

Grace's Plant Nearly Finished

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP)—Officials of the W. R. Grace Co. said yesterday their Polymer Chemicals division plant four miles north of here will be completed within six weeks. The 20-million-dollar plant is scheduled to open operations about Jan. 1. The project, covering 30 acres, will be the first plant in the state and one of the first in the nation making the new high density Polyethylene. The high density plastic will be bagged and sent to three centralized shipping centers in various sections of the country. Egg slicers are inexpensive and are extremely useful to have on hand for hard-boiled eggs that are to be used in salads and sandwiches or as a garnish.

Speedier System Of Mail Handling

A new - and speedier - system for handling mail was begun this week at the Louisville branch of the Monroe Post Office. Persons who walked in to deposit their mail were startled to find the regular letter slots taped up, and in their place were three canvass mail sacks, each labeled "Local," "Out-Of-Town," or "Air-Special."

The three sacks are hung from a rack, placed outside the counter, and are carefully watched by postal employees. When questioned on the new set-up, Postmaster Woodrow Hawthorn revealed that it is the first use of the modern system in Monroe, although other cities have already successfully put it into operation.

A metal enclosure for the sacks is on order, and as soon as it arrives it will be fitted into place, with round spaces a the top for easy depositing of mail.

The purpose of the new device, called a "cooperative mailing rack" is to have the letters sorted into the categories for which they are destined, before they reach the postal employees.

Previously, all mail left at the Louisville station was taken to the main post office downtown, and sorted there - a process that took considerable time.

The new method cuts out the

Agency Scoffs At Reds' Claim On Foodstuffs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (UP)—The Agriculture Department today scoffed at Russian claims that Soviet per capita production of meat and dairy products might reach and even top U. S. output in a few years.

It called the claim by Soviet Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev "unrealistic" and a propaganda twist for home consumption. It said Khrushchev might have been trying to whip up the enthusiasm of Russian farmers to expand production.

Khrushchev discussed Russian-versus-American farm production in a May 22 speech in Leningrad. The U. S. reply was made by an Agriculture Department expert in the September issue of the department's "Foreign Agriculture."

The U. S. expert was not identified in the department's publication, but he is known to be well informed about Russian farm production and production potential.

He pointed out that "even on Khrushchev's own showing, the United States produced in 1956 more than three times as much meat per capita and 40 per cent more milk than the Soviet Union."

"But he asserts," the expert said, "the Soviet Union can overtake the United States in per capita milk production in 1958 and by 1960 or 1961 reach the level of U. S. meat production, notwithstanding the rapid population growth."

U.S. Takes Dramatic Steps For Protecting Middle East

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States is taking dramatic steps to emphasize that her interests in the Middle East are too vital to be monkeyed with.

An airlift of arms to Jordan and redoubled speed in shipments to other countries bordering Syria involves part of the principles which apply to the presence of American troops in Europe.

In Europe the troops serve a multiple purpose. Since an attack on them would be an attack on the United States, they stand as a warning to Russia and an assurance to the Western nations that this country would be in at the start of any war. They also represent a guarantee to France that the German rearmament to which she so reluctantly agreed can never be turned against her.

The shipments of arms to the Middle East represent no new commitment as to quantity, but the effort to dramatize them serves as a reminder to all concerned that the Eisenhower Doctrine is in operation.

It also represents an approach to one of the thorniest problems of the cold war—how to help a country which is falling victim of nonmilitary aggression.

Arms are direct aid for governments which, habitually unstable, may need to defend themselves against the sort of coup which was attempted in Jordan.

The energy with which they are to be provided is a reminder to all involved that the friendly governments are free to ask for aid, and more active aid, if they become pressed.

A Syrian-instigated attempt at a coup in Lebanon, for instance,

Mer Rouge Pair Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago the little Baptist Church of Bastrop, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Ruth Higman and E. W. Andrews by the Rev. Almond, and on Thursday, the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Mer Rouge, their home during the intervening years.

Mrs. Andrews, attired in an afternoon formal of blue lace and net, stood with Mr. Andrews to receive the host of friends and relatives who came to extend their felicitations. Mrs. Doyle Wilson and W. C. Andrews—sister and brother of the groom—welcomed the guests at the door.

Attendant of the original wedding present at the reception was Mrs. R. W. Hardin, the former Gladys Higman.

The reception suite was decorated with golden specimen chrysanthemums, with golden tapers burning in burnished brass holders. The service table was centered with the "mums and the three-tiered wedding cake was embellished with touches of gold. Mrs. Leland Loughridge presided at the bowl of golden punch, and was assisted by Mrs. O. D. Ward of England, Ark., Mrs. J. T. Lewis of Shreveport and Mrs. John Stamper of Mer Rouge, k

The reception area was decorated with attractive arrangements of fall flowers in varied containers. The party table was draped with a medallion lace cloth, centered with lavender gladioli, digitalis and marigolds of palest yellow. Lantana and colorful figurines completed the setting.

On the gallery, the refreshment table presented an enchanting picture for both youngsters and grown-ups. Set with colorful napkins and cups, a grey ceramic squirrel and a pink china cat were the eye-catchers.

A daily decorated barrow-load of gifts were presented to Linda at this, her first party. YOUR PROBLEMS

Both Children Need Patience, Love And Professional Help

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband died two years ago and I married a widow or who lost his wife about the same time.

The man I married has a son 9 years of age. My own boy is 10. We hoped they'd be pals but it hasn't worked out that way.

My own boy was very close to his father and losing him suddenly was a shock. He was emotionally disturbed for several months and had to be under a doctor's care.

My step-son is just plain mean. He punches my child, hides his baseball equipment and is rude to me. He does poorly in school and several teachers have complained about his deportment. I've tried to be impartial but it's difficult when my step-son is always cooking up some trouble and has to be punished.

My husband is no help. He says to leave the boys alone and they will outgrow their difficulties. Is he right? — W. M. M.

He is wrong. These boys won't outgrow their difficulties — they'll just learn how to cover them up better. Many adults who have personality problems are carrying around childhood hurts and fears that were supposed to be "outgrown."

Interesting that you describe your child as "emotionally disturbed" but your step-son is "just plain mean." You recognize that your boy suffered a severe emotional shock when he lost his father, but you ignore the fact that your step-son may have suffered the same shock when he lost his mother.

Both of these children need patience, love — and professional help. See that they get it.

Dear Ann: I'm 27, a divorcee, and fairly attractive. You've probably read thousand of letters that begin this way, but I hope you'll finish mine and give me some advice. I'm a receptionist in a small office, have lots of friends and numerous dates. I want to get married again and have a family before I'm too old. My first marital experience was so bitter that it's taken me a lot of five years to believe that a man could be decent. Now that I am thinking seriously about getting married I find there isn't a likely prospect in the bunch. I'm not interested in married men, or younger pinks who want to move in and let someone support them. Also, I don't go in for the racy set who thinks marriage should come after people have proved they are compatible on a 24-hour a day basis. Where do I start? — L. C. M.

'OUT OF STATE' MAN Hebert, Boggs Protesting Appointment Of VA Officer

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6 (AP) — Reps. F. Edward Hebert and Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrats, today protested the appointment of an out-of-state man to head the New Orleans Veterans Administration office.

The protest followed announcement of the resignation of Charles M. Banks from the post.

The congressmen, in making public the change in command, criticized it as a "sneak maneuver" making what they called political pawns of Louisiana veterans.

The VA appointed Thomas V. Williams, a loan guaranty officer in Dallas, to manage the local office.

Williams' contacted in Colorado Springs, Colo., said he planned to fly to New Orleans Monday.

"I hope that after I have been there a while," he said, "we can make them (the congressmen) feel better about it."

Resigned To Take Job

Banks said he resigned Sept. 3 to accept a position with Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York in its New Orleans office. He will remain in the VA office until Sept. 30 to assist Williams, who takes over as manager Sept. 3. Banks will join the insurance firm Oct. 1.

The joint statement by Hebert and Boggs asked if the VA "were not guilty of something mischievous and irregular why did the appointment become such a deep dark secret?"

"Once again," the statement said, "the Veterans Administration has demonstrated its full and complete contempt for those Louisianians and other career employees in the New Orleans office who have given so much of their time and effort."

"Capable and dedicated people fully qualified have again been passed over for advancement and sacrificed on the altar of political expediency. It is a sickening situation."

The representatives said the VA had indicated it "does not desire the cooperation of Louisiana people and its delegation in Congress."

"It is a pity," they said, "that the affairs of veterans must continue to be made political pawns."

The elementary school, completing its last year in the present buildings before moving to the new site next term, will have five first grades, four second grades, four third grades, four fourth grades, four fifth grades, and three sixth grades.

Bank Robber Gets 3 Years At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP) — Dan M. Jones, who robbed the Bank of Texas of $1,783 with a toy pistol, was sentenced to three years in a federal prison today.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham pronounced sentence on the tall, well-dressed 27-year-old New Orleans auto salesman.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gordon Kroll pointed out that Jones had no previous criminal record.

Jones, who pleaded guilty, told the judge, "I feel I shall punish myself more than this court shall."

Jones was captured a few minutes after he used a toy pistol to take the money from a teller on July 11.

Nixon Seeking Cone Collectors

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP) — State Forester James E. Nixon today called for volunteer pine cone collectors.

The Louisiana Forestry Commission pays $2 a bushel for loblolly cones, he said.

However, Nixon said collectors must wait until "go ahead" is announced. Anyone interested should contact the nearest forest ranger for instructions.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Speedier System Of Mail Handling

A new - and speedier - system for handling mail was begun this week at the Louisville branch of the Monroe Post Office. Persons who walked in to deposit their mail were startled to find the regular letter slots taped up, and in their place were three canvas mail sacks, each labeled "Local," "Out-Of-Town," or "Air-Special."

The three sacks are hung from a rack, placed outside the counter, and are carefully watched by postal employees. When questioned on the new set-up, Postmaster Woodrow Hawthorn revealed that it is the first use of the modern system in Monroe, although other cities have already successfully put it into operation.

A metal enclosure for the sacks is in order, and as soon as it arrives it will be fitted into place, with round spaces at the top for easy depositing of mail.

The purpose of the new device, called a "cooperative mailing rack" is to have the letters sorted into the categories for which they are destined, before they reach the postal employees.

Time Saver

Previously, all mail left at the Louisville station was taken to the main post office downtown, and sorted there - a process that took considerable time.

The new method cuts out the preliminary handling, so mail can now go direct to processing and be sent out. Out-of-town mail can be worked immediately in the early hours of the evening and meet earlier dispatches.

These cooperative racks will also be put in large office buildings and establishments where mailing is heavy throughout the city, and speed up service from these places.

Hawthorn, also mentioned another plan to speed up service - in the future two, instead of one mailbox, will await letters. One box will be for local delivery, and the other for out-of-town, each box correctly labeled.

Way to Help

A current way to aid swift mail handling is for patrons to bundle local and out-of-town mail separately, and face the mail in each bundle in the same direction and attach a label to each bundle and tie it securely both ways with twine.

A supply of labels will be distributed to large haulers and the public may procure them from the post office.

One thing which prevents the mail service from being as swift as it could be is the method which many firms and individuals have of mailing everything around 5 p.m., when the business close.

This slows up the mail service between 5 to 7 p.m., which Hawthorn has named the "rush period" for the local post office. He suggested that firms mail all the letters which accumulated by noon shortly after 12 - early in the afternoon.

This would help assure prompt and avoid the extremely heavy and efficient handling of mail and avoid the extremely heavy mailing which now occurs in the late afternoon.

"We have more mail going out between 5 to 7 p.m. than during the whole day," the postmaster revealed, noting that most of the mail handled earlier in the day is incoming.

Agency Scoffs At Reds' Claim On Foodstuffs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (UP)—The Agriculture Department today scoffed at Russian claims that Soviet per capita production of meat and dairy products might reach and even top U. S. output in a few years.

It called the claim by Soviet Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev "unrealistic" and a propaganda twist for home consumption. It said Khrushchev might have been trying to whip up the enthusiasm of Russian farmers to expand production.

Khrushchev discussed Russian-versus-American farm production in a May 22 speech in Leningrad. The U. S. reply was made by an Agriculture Department expert in the September issue of the Department's "Foreign Agriculture."

The U. S. expert was not identified in the department's publication, but he is known to be well informed about Russian farm production and production potential.

He pointed out that "even on Khrushchev's own showing, the United States produced in 1956 more than three times as much meat per capita and 40 per cent more milk than the Soviet Union."

"But he asserts," the expert said, "the Soviet Union can overtake the United States in per capita milk production in 1958 and by 1960 or 1961 reach the level of U. S. meat production, notwithstanding the rapid population growth."

U.S. Takes Dramatic Steps For Protecting Middle East

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

might even open the door for a request for troops. That would bring the United States to a serious decision, for no one could predict her interests in the Middle East are too vital to be monkeyed with event.

An airlift of arms to Jordan and reduced speed in shipments to other countries bordering Syria in all of the principles which apply to the presence of American troops in Europe.

In Europe the troops serve a multiple purpose. Since an attack on them would be an attack on the United States, they stand as a warning to Russia and an assurance to the Western nations that this country would be in at the start of any war. They also represent a guarantee to France that the German rearmament to which she so reluctantly agreed can never be turned against her.

The shipments of arms to the Middle East represent no new commitment as to quantity, but the effort to dramatize them serves as a reminder to all concerned that the Eisenhower Doctrine is in operation.

It also represents an approach to one of the thorniest problems of the cold war—how to help a country which is falling victim of nonmilitary aggression.

Arms are direct aid for governments which, habitually unstable, may need to defend themselves against the sort of coup which was attempted in Jordan.

The energy with which they are to be provided is a reminder to all involved that the friendly governments are free to ask for aid, and more active aid, if they become pressed.

A Syrian-instigated attempt at a coup in Lebanon, for instance,

OUT OF STATE MAN Hebert, Boggs Protesting Appointment Of VA Officer

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6 (P)—William Hebert and Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrats, today protested the appointment of an out-of-state man to head the New Orleans Veterans Administration office.

The protest followed announcement of the resignation of Charles M. Banks from the post.

The congressmen, in making public the change in command, criticized it as a "sneak maneuver" making what they called political pawns of Louisiana veterans.

The VA appointment of Thomas V. Williams, a loan guaranty officer in Dallas, to manage the local office.

Williams, who was contacted in Colorado Springs, Colo., said he planned to fly to New Orleans Monday.

"I hope that after I have been there a while," he said, "we can make them (the congressmen) feel better about it."

Record Total Of Students At Ferriday

FERRIDAY (Special)—The Ferriday schools began Tuesday with a record registration in both elementary and high schools.

Principal B. R. Harris, of the Ferriday Elementary School, reported 810 pupils registered in the 24 classes that will make up the six regular grades, and an additional 14 pupils registered in the exceptional children's class.

Harris said that the last school term ended with 743 pupils registered. The elementary school, completing its last year in the present buildings before moving to the new site next term, will have five first grades, four second grades, four third grades, four fourth grades, four fifth grades, and three sixth grades.

Bank Robber Gets 3 Years At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 6 (P)—Dan M. Jones, who robbed the Bank of Texas of $1,775 with a toy pistol, was sentenced to three years in a federal prison today.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham pronounced sentence on the tall, well-dressed 27-year-old New Orleans auto salesman.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gordon Kroll pointed out that Jones had no previous criminal record.

Jones, who pleaded guilty, told the judge, "I feel I shall punish myself more than this court shall."

Jones was captured a few minutes after he used a toy pistol to take the money from a teller on July 11.

Nixon Seeking Cone Collectors

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (P)—State Forester James E. Nixon today called for volunteer pine cone collectors.

The Louisiana Forestry Commission pays $2 a bushel for loblolly cones, he said.

However, Nixon said collectors must wait until "go ahead" is announced. Anyone interested should contact the nearest forest ranger for instructions.

Gas Line Project At Jonesboro

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

'I'LL BE A RODEO FAN—IN TEN YEARS' — Night-time hours for the RCA Rodeo in West Monroe afforded a chance for many persons who work in the day to attend—and added to the drama of the events. But it wasn't on the proper time schedule for this very young man who decided to postpone watching "that there wild west show"—for about ten years. Big brother, though bashful when the photographer appeared, was mighty interested in the cowboys and horses. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

Clomping Hooves, Swirling Dust Mark Rodeo Finale Here

Clomping of hooves, swirling of dust, crisscrossing of colors—the final night of the RCA Rodeo in West Monroe was a spectacle of detailed riding by the J Bar H Quadrille, rough riding for the world championships in bareback bronc riding and saddle bronc riding, and the skill and strength demonstrated in the tie down calf roping and steer wrestling events.

Nearly 100 cowboys and $4,000 in prize money were represented, as a full grandstand of spectators watched the exhibition.

Led off by Old Glory and the Rodeo Banner, the Grand Entry of all riders in the rodeo set the "old west" pace, contrasting with the brief and appropriate opening prayer.

Pretty rodeo girls in striking white horses, "young" men, ranging in age from approximately six through sixty, little "cowgirls" riding in front of their energetic mothers—the Entry riders made large sweeps around the arena, then smaller circles so spectators were assured of a glance at each of the colorful costumes.

West Monroe's contribution to the 74th year of rodeos was vivid, varied, and contained enough excitement to please even "old-time" viewers.

Pope Slashes Church Ties In Red Hungary

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 6 (UP)—Pope XII ordered Roman Catholic priests in Hungary today to sever all ties with the political life of that Communist-ruled nation.

The papal order was published by the official organ of the Holy See, the "Acta Apostolicae Sedis." It was in the form of a decree issued by the congregation of the Vatican Council and countersigned by the Pontiff.

The decree ordered Hungarian priests who are deputies in the Red-dominated parliament or are otherwise involved in the political life of the country to cease such activities within one month.

A high Vatican source at this papal summer residence said the specific reason for the decree could not be disclosed.

The spokesman said it had no direct connection with the situation of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Hungarian Roman Catholic priest still living in the U. S. legation in Budapest, where he took refuge Nov. 4 during the Soviet repression of the Hungarian revolt.

Survivors include her husband, Matthew Rizzutto of Monroe; one son, Bennie Barbiero of Monroe; and one brother who is living in Italy.

Interment will be in St. Matthew's Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Cotton

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (U.P.) — Cotton futures closed 5 to 25 cents a bale higher today in slow dealings.

Liquidation and hedging were light, with prices moving in a narrow range. Deferred deliveries eased at times, partly on New Orleans selling, but the market firmed toward the close as trade buying and short covering increased slightly.

Most traders awaited the government September cotton crop report coming up next Monday. A higher figure than the official August forecast of 11,897,000 bales was anticipated. The average of private surveys this week was about 12,435,000 bales.
